NEW YORK CLIPPER

THE OLDEST AMERICAN SPORTING AND THEATRICAL JOURNAL.

FRANK QUEEN, Editor and Proprietor. | NEW YORK, SATURDAY, JUNE 1, 1872. | VOLUME XX.—No. 9. Price Ten Cents.

DOLLY VARDEN.

WRITTEN FOR THE NEW YORK CLIPPER.

BY DOBBS.

There's a new style of dress that's just come into life,
And it's causing a deal of commotion;
Between fashion and sense there's considerable strife
About this new fashionable notion.
Of whimsical folly and the latest new style
Fashion's a most jealous warden,
And we're all to be punished—at least for a while—
With that outrageous dress—Dolly Varden.

There's a maiden I know, that I loved more than life,
And I worshipped her sense and good breeding;
And I looked fondly forward with her as my wife,
To the life every young man is needing;
I knew she was honest; I knew I was true;
And my heart I thought nothing could harden,
But my love for her died, and I felt rather blue,
When she showed me her new Dolly Varden.

'Twas a great disappointment; from my pinnacle hurled,
I lost both her love and compassion.
For she said she would sooner be out of the world,
Than to live, and be out of the fashion;
And besides that, she wanted to show her new dress,
(We were going to the Central Park Garden).
But I'd no wish that "bed curtain" my arm to caress—
So some one else went with my "Dolly Varden."

But that dress; oh ye gods! 'twas a wonderful thing—
Each "breadth" was a wonderful story;
There were lizards and snakes, there were birds on the wing,
With huntsmen and dogs in their glory;
There were jolly haymakers, like a Donnybrook row,
(And I honestly beg the girl's pardon),
But there was a bull who was chasing a cow
Down the side of her new Dolly Varden.

In this whimsical style I don't really believe
On woman's good taste 'tis a libel;
I would much rather see them go back to fig-leaves—
The primitive dress of the Bible.
Were I wed, and my wife's dress so flashy and coarse,
You would hear of one more Enoch Arden—
To Indiana I'd go, and procure a divorce
From her and her darned Dolly Varden.

CONGO, THE CONJURER.

A STORY OF SHOW LIFE.

CHAPTER XXXVI.

A NEW FRIEND.

Monk and his young friend, while awaiting the arrival in London of their friends, began to look about them with a view to a new line of business. Traveling the country in a caravan, under whatever cognomen they might adopt, was too dangerous. It laid them open to the persecutions of Charles Everton, who, with his command of money, would be always able to find among the more degraded of a poor and ill-paid profession, tools ready to harass and betray them. But what to do? Monk felt quite equal to appearing on the metropolitan boards if they could get only an engagement. As to taking a theatre, it was a great venture. They could have done so, as, with money enough for a deposit and for the first advertising, they had tolerable confidence. But then they were wholly unknown to fame. Under these circumstances, they called upon one or two managers, and, contriving to see their secretaries or prompters, proposed an hour's entertainment between the regular business. But, with some, the kind of entertainment was too low; with others, their want of reputation was a stumbling-block; while all, one after another, had some reason to give for not engaging them. Other of these circumstances, they called upon one or two managers, and, contriving to see their secretaries or prompters, proposed an hour's entertainment between the regular business. But, with some, the kind of entertainment was too low; with others, their want of reputation was a stumbling-block; while all, one after another, had some reason to give for not engaging them. Disgusted at their rebuffs, both resolved to wait the arrival of the ladies. While they were seated one evening at tea, in a most melancholy mood, the supposed Mrs. Ellis entered, pale, haggard, and alone. Little Nelly was not with her. When by the assistance of restoratives and some little coaxing, the showman's wife had recovered herself sufficiently to tell her story, it was brief. Acting under the instructions of her husband, she had dropped out of the caravan on the road unobserved. The giant and the clowns had agreed to go with the new man, so that they were recalled whenever Monk went into business again. Mrs. Monk and Nelly then put up at an inn, in a very plain way, and prepared to rejoin their friends in London. They booked their places, but as the coach did not start until late—they were generally out of the district of the few railways then established—they thought to look around in the streets, and soon made a few purchases. Whenever she went out, Nelly's beauty was sure to create attention, so that her mother was careful never to lose sight of her. On this occasion, there being a green surrounded by trees on the outskirts of the town, Mrs. Monk seated herself a moment in search of repose, while Nelly, urged by a natural curiosity, walked across the green to where stood a show of large dimensions. It was a traveling affair like their own, on a large theatrical scale. The crowd round it was great, attracted as much by the noise as by the show itself. At the end of half an hour, the performances ceasing, the crowd dispersed; but Nelly did not return. With a sudden impulse of alarm, the mother bounded across the green, but nowhere was her daughter to be seen. Next instant she was inside of the booth, the owners of which were known to her. There was only the man, his wife, their two children and a cat. But of no sign had Nelly been seen by any of the young girl. The mother's alarm was terrible, and, after thanking the humble show people, she hurried away, thinking that Nelly, perhaps, missing her, had gone back to the inn. But there nothing was known. Like a mad woman she rushed to the local police office, and gave information, promising a rich reward, and presenting money liberally in advance. Soon after breakfast next day they brought her sad news—sad news indeed. A child had been seen in company with two men—from the description, the Patterer and the cripple—but the police declared she went along willingly. But though they hunted high and low, and put every machinery of the force into action, they could find no trace of her. Broken-hearted, and trusting to the energy of the father to restore the child to her arms, the showman's wife rushed off to London. Monk heard the narrative with stern composure and bent brow; while Arthur could scarcely contain his fury and indignation. When the weeping, sobbing wife had concluded, she fell upon her husband's breast.

"Forgive me! oh, my husband!"

"You are in no way to blame, my darling! Let us be calm, and all will yet be well. I am perfectly certain whence comes this blow. Nelly has been taken as a hostage for Arthur here."

"I will give myself up! I will go at once to my mother!" cried Arthur.

"You will sit down and be calm," said Monk, sternly. "We have cunning and unscrupulous people to deal with, and must exercise judgment and caution. In the first place, you can discover if your mother be not in town."

Arthur acquiesced and promised to be guided in all things by the superior judgment of the showman.

"Mr. Charles Everton shall be taught a lesson," he said, sternly, after a few moments of deep thought—"such a lesson as is seldom given to a man in his class of society."

And calmly and quietly he unfolded his plans, which were listened to with amazement. Next morning, leaving the mourning wife alone at the hotel, Monk and Arthur sallied forth, the one to consult a sharp lawyer in general practice, the other to stroll over to Mayfair, then the very height of fashion, in order to discover if Lady Everton was in town. It was just the height, or height of the season, and Mr. Charles Everton was too fond of club-life and society generally to be absent. He was of the world worldly, above all things. Arthur, who had a turned-up great-coat and a broad-brimmed hat, walked to within about twenty yards of his father's house, and looked over the way. It required no second glance to tell that the family were at home. Fearful, however, of being recognized, he entered one of the smaller streets, and, under pretence of a glass of ale and a sandwich, watched carefully. His patience was soon rewarded, for in less than half an hour the carriage drove up, and there, beside his mother, with Mr. Charles Everton and his son, sat Nelly, looking, though very pale, radiantly beautiful. Arthur's heart gave a great bound. Young as he was, he had already learned to nourish hopes of the future, with which Nelly was intimately connected, and this propinquity to his mother was singularly agreeable to his feelings. He had dropped one of the carvan in order not turn up to his distracted friends. He was as much blotted out of existence as if he never had been. Weeks, months passed, and yet no tidings of the truant. To the deep sorrow of mother and father, Nelly began to fade away; her color left her cheeks and their only child was in danger. Then Monk sternly decided on action. What it was will be seen. We must return to poor Arthur Everton.

CHAPTER XXXVII.

THE UNEXPECTED CAPTURE.

As soon as our young hero had taken some refreshment in the house of his fathers, fearful that he might betray himself by some inadvertant outcry, he left the mansion, and strolled carelessly out into the street, determined to walk home and see the supper, which had been ordered as a kind of festive-board on their separation. Arthur walked quietly out of the house. After looking up at it for some time, with a strange expression of countenance, with strange thoughts whirling through his head, he turned away, sauntering along in a deep reverie. Such a grand affair in the way of a children's party had not been given in that neighborhood for some time, and there was a crowd of idlers to look on. Despite the activity of the police, who kept them continually moving, they ebbed and flowed, especially at the corner of a dark street turning into the more lowly quarters of the town. Here hung those pickers up of unconsidered trifles, who generally contrive to make a harvest out of such gatherings. Among these, too carefully disguised for the London police to know them, were the Patterer and Pharaoh, backed by a man named Josse, who was, in fact, one of the most singular men in London. To all appearance he was a money lending Jew, but he was up to, and capable of, anything. On the present occasion, knowing how careless and thoughtless are all persons in connection with a juvenile party, he depended on a rich harvest, and to carry it off in safety had provided a smart dog-cart, which stood conveniently at the door of a public-house. As he was in and out every moment, all things which were conveniently picked up were passed into the capacious boot of his accommodating vehicle. It was while in the act of handing up a purse which had been taken from a gaping servant-girl that the Patterer caught sight of Arthur, sauntering along with his hands in his pockets, pleasantly thinking of the meeting with little Nell.

"Josse," he whispered, in a low, earnest whisper, "I can put you up to a hundred or more."

"Done!" said the fence, who was really neither Jew nor Christian, we should hope. "How?"

"Have you any bumptious gas?" asked the Patterer.

"Yes," replied the other; and, without a word, he procured the other a bottle and a sponge.

"Get up, take Pharaoh with you and follow," hissed the Patterer in his ear.

Josse obeyed without a word, and in a moment more was handling the ribbons, with Pharaoh by his side. Before him sauntered still the happy and joyous Arthur, delighted at moments restored to little Nelly, for whom he felt that mysterious affinity which is so difficult to explain. Behind him crawled the serpent—the snake in the grass, who had vowed in his soul to compass the death of the brave and gallant boy. Suddenly a dark street is reached, and the Patterer turns his grimy face towards the fence. As he does so his arms are cast round the neck of our hero, who utters a wild and plaintive cry and sinks helplessly towards the pavement. In another moment he is gagged, bound and hauled up in the back seat of the cart, where he is tightly held by the grinning and delighted Patterer. Once more the unhappy and persecuted victim, who had so often escaped their grasp, was in their power, and with none to take his part. The fellow Josse, who was pretty well in the secrets of these men, drove along the streets in the direction of Clerkenwell, nor halted until they came to a dark and narrow street, without a light from shop or street-lamp. Here he pulled up opposite a door which did not rise four feet above the pavement, with a beetle browed projection at the top, and three murky steps to go down. This door he opened with a small key, and revealed a cavernous den, lighted by a flickering tallow candle on the counter, and surrounded on all sides by bales of rags, piles of bones and other articles of the miserable trade of those marine store keepers, who are, in reality, receivers of stolen goods, from leaden roofs to diamonds. Arthur was hauled out of the cart, still insensible, and carried in; the contents of the boot were then laid on the counter, after which, closing the door and leaving the two men in the shop, he took away the trap.

"The accursed house-dweller is in our power now! Pharaoh can now be revenged for his crooked bones, which else would not lie still in their grave. He shall die! die! die!"

"Not so fast," said the Patterer. "What I want to do is make money, and I don't care whether it's out of Mike or Mac, the swell or the boy. He's a nob himself and will pay well for life and liberty."

"And the gipsy's vengeance!" laughed Pharaoh. "Not all the gold of all the white livered race would satisfy me—nothing but death!"

At this moment Josse returned to the shop and the question of concealment was raised. The receiver had often thrown his house open to policemen and detectives, but had never once been unfortunate. Somehow the goods which it was known had passed through his hands miraculously disappeared. Floors, ceilings, panels, walls, were sounded in vain. But Josse was the third in descent from a race of receivers, and his grandfather, who had been mixed up in many a fearful transaction, thought he had spent money on making the house suitable to his trade. In the passage leading from the shop to the kitchen and parlor was a stone wall, which, when struck by the hand or any blunt instrument, gave forth a dull and heavy sound. But Josse, putting his hand up to the ceiling, and using a spring, made this heavy mass move and admit him to the next house, which, except a kind of dummy shop kept by an old woman who sold sweets and ginger-beer, was in his occupation. In this place it was he stored his notes, gold, precious stones—anything which must either be sent over the water or kept for the hue-and-cry to be over. Here, too, many a miscreant had been concealed until he could safely be restored to and her land; and never once had the police obtained a clue to the simple device which enabled Josse to baffle them. Here, in a room to which air and light were only admitted by means of a loophole, were two beds, as many chairs and a rickety old chest of drawers. On one of these Arthur was cast, his bandages and gag removed.

"He looks a stiff 'un," said Josse.

"I hope not," cried the Patterer, producing a flask of brandy—the which he never moved—from an inside pocket, and anointing the other's face. "All right! He'll do; only let him sleep."

And the three retired to talk matters over in the snuggery. An hour later, Josse came in alone, and placed on the chest of drawers a tray with the materials for a hearty meal—enough indeed for two or three men. He removed a candle which was almost burnt out, put up a new one and then waited until Arthur lay in a restless and uneasy sleep, which doubtless was a struggle with that long slumber which has no awakening on earth. Presently, however, he gave a deep, gasping sigh, and opening his eyes, sneezed heavily. No wonder. Sitting up in the opposite bed was a man of odd appearance. He was a stout personage, with matted hair, staring eyes, unshaven face and a general unsavory odor about him; while in his mouth was a pipe, from which he emitted clouds of acrid and pungent smoke, in that close room simply pestiferous. Arthur began coughing.

"Don't like it—eh, youngster?" he said.

"Well," replied Arthur, faintly, "it is rather strong. I don't dislike it in the open air."

"It's so long ago since I breathed the open air," continued the other, dryly, at the same time putting down his pipe, "that I forgot all about it. When and how did you come?"

Arthur looked at him keenly. The man was evidently a prisoner like himself. To tell could do no harm; and he told how, on leaving a house, he had been garroted and stunned—he knew no more.

"Kidnapped by——" cried the other. "But here's grub. Let us fill up, and then we can talk."

Arthur joined him, but with little effect, the other eating as if he had fasted for a fortnight, and drinking no less. When, however, he had concluded his meal, he put aside the brandy bottle.

"Come, youngster, Bill Marks ain't much, but if you'll spin a true yarn, p'r'aps he'll help you," said the man; "but you must be quick afore I drinks too much brandy."

Without revealing too many names, Arthur, who felt the value of society and human consolation, told his story from the day of his flight from home.

"And you're in the claws of them vagabonds?" said Bill Marks. "Shiver my timbers! Now, youngster, I'm here of my own free will; I'm looked arter. It ain't much matter why; but ain't very bad. I did stick a knife in a chap for striking a girl; but it was not meant to kill him."

And, with a white face, bleared eyes and trembling hand, the wretched man raised the cup of brandy to his lips and drained it off.

"And did you kill him?"

"I don't know—yes. There he is!" pointing to the wall and casting himself back under the bed-clothes, he hid himself away.

Arthur looked at him with a mixture of horror and compassion, but was speedily brought back to thoughts of his own position by the very idea of being placed in confinement with one so terribly guilty. That his step-father was at the bottom of all, he had no doubt, and every moment he expected to endure his hated presence. He was mistaken. Except Josse, not a living soul ever came near him. This individual several times brought in his meals but always refused to answer any questions put to him by Arthur. One day, however, he was more communicative.

"How long am I to be kept in this hateful den?" he repeated for the tenth time,

"You will know to night," said Josse, "a gent is coming to see you."

"My wicked step-father!" cried Arthur, with a shudder. "Am I here to be murdered?"

"I don't know; that ain't in my line," said Josse, and went out.

Bill Marks sat up as soon as he had gone, and announced his readiness for the usual evening meal.

"Two bottles of brandy," he said, with a satanic grin. I know what that means."

"In Heaven's name—what?"

"Want me to be asleep when your precious visitor comes," replied the sailor; but we'll do 'em."

The meal was consumed, the drink taken in moderation, and then the greater part of what remained was poured into a pail. The whole of one bottle was thus disposed of, from Bill Mark's conviction that it was drugged

Then the two remained for some time in earnest conversation. Suddenly the click of the door was heard, and Bill Marks drew himself under the clothes in his usual attitude. A smell of brandy pervaded the whole apartment. Josse came in leading the way for Charles Everton, who was disguised in a heavy paletot and slouched hat. Josse pointed to the bed, where Arthur was seated, pale, gaunt, with white and livid lips, which trembled with suppressed agitation and, we may say, rage. But he schooled himself to indifference, even pouring out the last remnant of brandy, and draining it to the dregs. Josse took away the empty bottles, with an ogre-like grin at Bill Marks, and retired.

"Well, sir, this is the end of your insolence and rebellion!" said Charles, sneeringly.

"Nothing surprises me on the part of a villain, a cowardly ruffian, a thief and would-be murderer!" replied Arthur, bitterly.

"Boy, moderate your tongue. This is our last meeting on earth, and I come to you only to let you know how you have brought all upon yourself. Had you not have braved me, all might have been well; but now it is war to the knife!"

"As I am unarmed," said Arthur, opening the breast of his coat in a significant manner, "you may as well do the base, craven deed at once."

"I seek not your blood!" replied Charles with a shudder. "I seek but to have you thought dead."

"How so?"

"No matter what your faults, I believe your are truthful," said Charles, looking away from him. Consent to forswear your name—to go to Australia and never return, unless under another guise, and your life is safe."

"Never! I will not sell my birthright, even for a mess of blood!"

"Then is my mission at an end. But, mark me, boy," said Charles Everton, shivering as with the cold, "all this may be very well while you have only been a few days

NEW YORK CLIPPER BUILDING,

S. E. Cor. Centre and Leonard sts.

Stores and Offices to Let in this handsome and substantial edifice, well located on a business thoroughfare, and fitted up with all the modern conveniences; including heating by steam, with water facilities throughout. Terms reasonable. Application should be made at the NEW YORK CLIPPER OFFICE, 32 AND 34 CENTRE STREET.

NEW YORK CLIPPER.

SATURDAY, JUNE 1, 1872.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

Single Copy	10 cents
To Wholesale Dealer	7 cents
To Retail Agents	8½ "
To Clubs of four from each sale	8 "

The CLIPPER is sent to any address in the United States or Canada at the following rates of subscription. Subscribers in Canada and the British Provinces will please remember that, as we are obliged to pay $1 per annum extra, to cover postage.

Subscriptions per annum	$3 00
" for 6 months	1 50
" for 3 months	1 25

Any person remitting us $5, a deduction of 50 cents will be made from the subscription. Subscribers in Canada and the British Provinces will please remember that, as we are obliged to pay $1 per annum extra, to cover postage.

FRANK QUEEN, Editor and Proprietor, corner of Centre and Leonard streets.

Box 1,368, New York P. O.

NOTICE.

☞ CORRESPONDENTS, advertisers, and all others writing in relation to matters connected with this or any other department of the CLIPPER, are respectfully requested to address their favors to the editor and proprietor, and thereby avoid omissions, mistakes and confusion, which are likely to occur when such communications are addressed to our assistants.

NOTICE.

ADVERTISERS must hand in their favors before 6 o'clock on Monday evening, in order to have them appear in that week's issue.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

☞ We never answer questions by mail. All addressed to us seeking information will be answered through this column only.

F. R., St. Paul, Minn.—1. Sydney Jones and Edward Clayton, surgeons, connected with St. Thomas' Hospital, London, Eng., on the 21st of April, 1860, gave Sayers the following certificate:—"Having examined Mr. Thomas Sayers this day, we are of opinion, from the continued state of the muscles, tendons and inner bone of the right fore-arm, that he will be unable to use that arm for at least a couple of months, or probably more." 2. Heenan partially knocked Tom King out of time on the 17th round, and at the expiration of a minute he was placed before the third called, and when it was called, Heenan left his corner and went up to the scratch, but King had not left his corner, whereupon Heenan claimed his second time, and time was called again, when Heenan again advanced, King being from one to two minutes in coming up—whether, in all, five minutes elapsed from the termination of the round and the commencement of the next, we cannot positively state, but are under the impression that such a time did intervene.

SPORT, Angola, Ind.—Your dog is evidently laboring under a virulent attack of distemper. The following treatment must be adopted:—The diet must consist of boiled rice, skim milk, with coarse bread or ship biscuit, all cold, and all meat withheld. The water must be constantly changed, and the bed, of straw or hay, must be warm and dry, but airy. Give four grains of ipecac for three successive mornings, and on the fourth day a gentle purge, composed of extract of colocynth, 20 grains; powdered colchicum, 6 grains; blue pill, 5 grains, made into one pill. During this time give two of the following pills daily:—Extract belladonna, 24 grains; nitre, ½ ounce; extract gentian, 4 drachms, and powdered quassia, a sufficiency to make into 24 pills.

REMSEN, Rutland, Vt.—1. It depends on the nature of the foul. 2. New York is the oldest city in this State, having, by one authority, been founded by the Dutch in 1612, by another 1614, by another 1621. Its date as a city must have been on or before 1665, as in that year its first mayor, Thomas Willet, took office, by appointment. Albany comes next, the name was then Beverwyck, the Dutch in 1623, and incorporated in 1686. 3. Mr. Bonner's horse Bruno last appeared on the turf in 1868.

A. P., Pittsburgh, Pa.—An greater number of feet would be due as a lower rate per foot than was contracted for, which disparity in price is not compensated for by the higher rate paid for the balance; if the work was accomplished in the way you state, the man taking the lower bid would only earn $50 for digging forty feet, whereas his partner would only have earned $45 for digging sixty feet, leaving $5 of the money paid for the job to be disposed of.

J. D. P., Lisbon, O.—1. The drama played by Miss Dollie Bidwell entitled "A Leap in the Dark; or, Wedded but no Wife," is announced as having been dramatized by J. Leon Ashton, from a story by Mrs. May Fleming, published recently in the New York Weekly. There are seven characters in it. 2. You can dramatize any published work which does not contain a "reservation of all rights" printed therein, in addition to the notice of copyright.

I WANT TO KNOW, Wyandotte, Mich.—1. In euchre the Jack is the highest card in cutting. 2. Only the player who takes the responsibility of the trump, by either making, taking up, or ordering up, can go alone. 3. Our decisions are not always governed by American Hoyle, as we think its rulings are not in many instances. 4. Star performers are not paid by the night's performance, but on shares. 5. Do not know.

IGNORAMUS, Bellevue, O.—We shall try to explain. Suppose A plays five games each with B, C, D and E, that's 20; B five with C, D and E, that's 15; C five with D and E, that's 10, and D five with E, making 50 in all, and the contestants will have played 20 games for each other.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind.—1. In poker dice, aces only count as opes, being the lowest number that can be thrown. 2. A straight in some localities beats two pairs, in others it beats three of a kind. The rule is always to be settled before commencing to play.

SENECA, Pottsville.—Not knowing the lady's taste, whether for poetry or prose, we would suggest, as a compromise, that you present her with a work by bird's eye verse, and Milton's "Paradise Lost" is the best English book of that character.

L. B.—1. Webster's. 2. Quackenbos' is as good as any. 3. You had better get a little book entitled "What to Read and How to Read," by Chas. H. Moore, M. D. A physician is the only person who can answer your other questions.

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—Fleetwood trotting park is situated at Morrisania, Westchester Co., New York, a few yards to the east of the Harlem R. R. track, distant about ten miles from the City Hall, this city, and about two miles north of Harlem bridge.

W. W. Weber, Water Mill, L. I.—Your letter is unknown. 2. We never stated that C. W. Noyes was not connected with any circus company travelling in the south. 3. Brief items will be thankfully received. 4. Charles Mestayer.

PEARSON, Nashville.—1. If it is mistaken, as his bet with A does not come into operation until after it is made, and must await the expiration of the month for its decision. 2. The game is a draw.

PARDNER, Salem, N. Y.—1. We do not know the gentleman's present whereabouts. 2. The Edwin James, who absconded, is an English lawyer, and no relation to the other Ed. James. 3. Two aces, two, three or four; is the better hand? Yes.

AZEKIEL, Pittsburgh.—You lose your bet, and cannot get out of it on the ground that your friend was betting on a sure thing. The idea that a man cannot win on a sure thing, where no fraud is used, has long been exploded.

POST U. S. BOUNDARY, Washington.—1. The umpire's decision decides bets, subject, of course, to the decision of the judiciary committee made on an appeal. 2. No. 3. The bets go by the score, 9 to 8.

BRIMS, Exeter.—1. Yes; he can make all the bases he runs for after the base given him. 2. "1 B" means "first base hit;" "P. O." means players put out by each man; "A." means times assisted in putting out opponents.

T. H. HOFFMAN.—1. "Three out, all out," is the rule in base ball. 2. A sailor's prize money is the share of each man on board a vessel which captures a prize in war times. 3. Yes.

BEAVER.—The party betting that it does not will win, loses if that club does not win. 2. If the game is a tie, then there is no victory and no game won.

EXPERT, Jersey City.—1. No. 2. The legislature in some states, the people in others; that is, in case of a vacancy. 3. About 25 represented.

E. R. P., Chester.—The only way to cure the gentleman of the disagreeable habit of chewing and being out of tobacco" is to follow his example, and be out of tobacco yourself.

F. O. ANDERSON, Louisville, Ky.—Owing to the opening of the sporting season, we are curtailed of space, somewhat, for such matters but, when opportunity offers, we shall serve you cheerfully.

J. H., Red Oak, Ind.—1. London, Eng., is the largest city in the world. 2. The company has been broken up. See circus department.

B. F. W., Philadelphia, Pa.—1. He has probably made no engagement as yet for the next season. 2. See article relative to the match referred to in another column.

C. McD.—50 bets G that Grant will be next President, which G takes. If Grant is again nominated, which wins?.....G having made no reservation in regard to the nomination, G wins.

P. C., New Orleans.—Harry Bassett has only run one race of four-mile heats. When at Baltimore, he beat Helmbold in 7:54¾; 8:08¾; track very heavy.

G. B. R., New Brunswick.—A having virtually agreed to do as B did with his hand, and the latter having bunched his cards, A must take a fresh deal.

C. H. L., South Hero, Vt

THE TURF.

RACING AND TROTTING NOTES.

A sweepstakes trot of $500, between the Boston horses Royal Flika, Slippery Sal, and a Canadian mare, owned by Mr. Goodall, for one mile, 3 in harness, and will come off over the Boston Park Course during the second week of June. The distance to five dollars over and repeat, in harness ..... The well known trotting mare Miss Gilbert, who has a record of 2:36, has been sold by Thomas Hayes to a gentleman residing at Bedford, for $2,000. ..... The directors of the Great Falls Riding Park, N. H., have appointed Ansel S. Drew, superintendant of the track, and voted $2,000 to be expended in improvements, in addition to the money for which Jane meeting is expected in June ..... Mr. D. R. Mellen, of Portland, Me., has sold his well known horse Dare, to New York parties, for $15,000 ..... Mr. M. H. Sanford will hold his first annual sale of thoroughbred yearlings, on June 27th, in front of the Prentice Hotel, Lexington, Ky., being the day subsequent to the sale of Mr. Alexander's yearlings at Woodlawn stud farm ..... James Wadsworth, of Chicago, Ill., has purchased of Mr. Charles Backman, of the Rosencrantz stud farm, Orange Co., New York, the stallion Messiah, by Hyatt's Hambletonian, dam by Long Island Black Hawk ..... After the purse for the Railroad Stakes at Nashville, won by G. Ballentine's Fox, High Constable, by Blacklock, dam by Imp. Albion, Mr. M. Forbes, the owner of the chestnut filly Minnehaha, by Hiawatha, Farmer

CUPID'S FOIBLES, FOLLIES AND FANCIES.

THE VILLAGE MAIDEN.

WRITTEN FOR THE NEW YORK CLIPPER.

I met her by chance—a village maid—
As she was tending her posies;
Her eyes were as blue as her violets,
And her cheeks they blushed like her roses.

It was love at first sight, my heart it beat
Ten times as fast as it oughter;
I stammered:—"Sweet girl, at thy fair hands,
Could I beg a glass of water?"

She handed it me with an airy grace,
And a smile that was enchanting;
We spoke of the weather, her flowers; her name
She said was Elizabeth Banting.

"O, lovely maiden! O, say," I cried,
"May I be to you as a brother,
And hope in time to be dearer?" She cried,
"You clear out! or I'll call my mother!"

And these dreadful words from the house I heard:—
"Lize! don't take any sarces from that feller!
Tell him to haul the hoof, or I'll put a head
On him with my umberrella!" J. H. B.

A DEMONSTRATIVE ELOPEMENT.

She Prefers Youth to Old Age.

Quite a scene occurred at the foot of Grand street, Williamsburgh, L. I., about noon on May 23d, when an aged gentleman made hasty approach to Officer Kroner and begged him to arrest a lady and gentleman about to make a trans-East-river trip to Gotham. The Sun of the next day, in giving the particulars, says that the old man exclaimed:—"He is stealing my goods! He is eloping with my wife! I paid for every stitch of clothes she has on. Do you hear? I want them arrested." The officer, instantly understanding what was asked, approached the runaway couple, followed by the old gentleman. The latter besought the woman to leave the man she was with, but she refused, saying that he had the best right to her company. This enraged the old gentleman. Darting from the officer's side, he strove to draw her away from the young man. She resisted, and the young fellow assisted her. During the scuffle the old gentleman had his vest ripped open with a knife. When the party was taken to the police station the old gentleman gave his name as Charles Meyers, of Lee avenue, near Rutledge street, and said that he married the woman over twelve years ago. The young man in whose company she was described himself as John C. King, of South Fifth street. The woman is young and attractive. King is a married man, passably good looking, with a black moustache. He is a wealthy builder, and member of the firm of King & Holcomb. Within a few weeks he has left Meyers in employ. A few nights after his discharge, he found King in his house, where he had been a constant visitor. Meyers ordered him out, and, on his refusing to go, ejected him and had him arrested. He was shortly afterward released on bail, and the same night, it is said, had Myers arrested on complaint of the wife. Yesterday morning they appeared before Justice Elliott. When King entered the court room Mrs. Meyers flushed up somewhat and scowled at her husband, who endeavored to keep her seated at his side. The hearing was adjourned until next day. As they left the court room the woman rejected her husband's proffered arm and accepted that of King. They walked leisurely along the street to the ferry, followed by the old gentleman and a crowd of curious. After the sergeant had taken Meyers' complaint and King's cross-complaint, he ordered the two men to be locked up. The woman was told to go home to her children. Before leaving the police station she begged the sergeant not to lock King in the same cell with "that old ruffian whom they call my husband."

A CONJUGAL CONUNDRUM.

Is It Bigamy Or Is It Not?

Sixteen English judges have recently been called upon to solve the problem, whether a man who has married the niece of his first wife, having a second wife living, is guilty of bigamy or not in so marrying. Seventeen have not nonplussed. It appears that this legal conundrum has been found so difficult to answer that a court lately assembled in the Exchequer Chamber, consisting of two lord chief justices, the lord chief baron, and thirteen puisne judges, were unable to come to a conclusion on the subject, and have reserved their decision for another term. The facts are that a man married his deceased wife, and, she dying, he then espoused a second. Without waiting for number two to die, Allen proceeded to espouse still another wife, who happened to be a niece of wife number one. None of these facts are denied. But according to the English laws of consanguinity a man may not marry his wife's brother's daughter, nor his wife's sister's daughter. An act of parliament provides that marriages within the prohibited degrees shall be not merely void, but void to all intents and purposes. The defence is that the third marriage was an illegal one and void, and therefore, there being no marriage, there could be no bigamy. The case has been reserved from the Assizes for the decision of the sixteen judges, who have as yet been unable to make up their minds on the subject.

A. Heyl Fellow not Well Mated.—A young man of Adonis-like appearance, with a very black moustache, named James Huguenot Heyl, was arrested and consigned to a cell in Cincinnati, O., on May 14th, on a charge of adultery made by his wife, a neatly dressed lady, who appeared in the sanctum sanctorum of Mr. Billbous Bauer, deputy clerk of the tribunal presided over by Judge Walter P., &c., and stated that she wished to see him on business of the utmost importance. She was soon accosted by a lady then introduced herself as Mrs. Harriet Heyl, and stated that she had been married for several years to Mr. James Huguenot Heyl. She represented their married life as an unusually happy one until the first of January last. At that period a young American maiden of twenty-one springs, named Nellie Johnson, put in an appearance from California, and soon formed the acquaintance of James Huguenot, which soon ripened into unlawful love. Mrs. Heyl, thinking the attachment of a more intimate nature than was consistent with her views of the marital bond, and thinking she had grounds upon which to base her suspicions, desired warrants for the arrest of her faithless husband and the gay damsel Nellie. The necessary papers were issued and the intruded to officers Von Seggern and Ritter. The officers found Heyl, who is a butcher, at work, and conveyed him to the station, while Nellie, who is by no means an attractive female, was discovered presiding over the internal workings of a small cottage on Mill street, near Fourth, where she is in the habit of receiving her company, and conveyed to the lock-up, where she is languishing. No one appearing to bail them out, the couple were left to repose in their respective cells.

The Green-Eyed Monster.—The latest case of jealousy that has gained publicity, occurred in Natick, Mass., on May 16th. The bosom of a respectable citizen named Capithon was torn by the green-eyed monster. He is a middle aged man, the father of two or more sons nearly arrived at man's estate, and it is reported without contradiction, that his jealousy has been aroused by a female lage resident in the village, who has poured into his ears insinuations against the chastity of his young wife—the second lady who has borne that relation to him—impeaching not only her, but definitely reflecting upon one or the other of the sons before referred to, and also upon a brother who supplied the family with certain articles of pantalum. The latter came to be the more particular object of the husband's ire, and a personal encounter transpired Wednesday morning, when the butcher made his morning call. He was met at the door by the angered husband, who at once assailed him, knocked him down, caused him to run, pursued him, and fired a pistol at him once or twice, happily without effect, as the butcher's legs were good, and saved him. Subsequently Capithon was taken before Justice Morse and gave bonds for further appearance for examination.

An Ungrateful Wretch.—A Chicago girl hearing that her lover had been stricken with small-pox insisted upon flying to his bedside and becoming his nurse. It was a severe case, but she was unceasing in her devotion, and principally through her care and skill the patient recovered. And now she herself fell a victim to the complexion destroying monster, and although she survived the attack, a fearful mass of pock-marks and white of her face had flown forever, and from being one of the prettiest girls in Chicago she became one of the plainest. Her lover had attended her through her illness, but when he saw how fearfully she was changed, his love for her departed, and when the marriage day drew near he refused to fulfil his part of the contract. She took his refusal very calmly; no reproaches came from the once pretty mouth which had lost it prettiness in saving the unctuous fat one from death; her cheek, which the tell-tale blood so often used to tinge with rosy red, retained its color, and she married an octogenarian with $500,000.

A Spanish Negro in Quod for a Score of Years.—In the Court of General Sessions, New York, on May 21st, John Ducani, a Spanish negro, was tried for committing an outrage upon Mary E. Castix, a colored girl, in the hallway of 186 Greene street, on the 10th of April. She testified that he dragged her down into the passage way, and there violated her person. As soon as she was released by him she called a policeman, who found the prisoner secreted under the stoop. Ducani was sworn in his own behalf, through an interpreter, and said that he could speak no English, and never saw the woman before. The testimony was very brief, and after half an hour's consultation the jury rendered a verdict of guilty. The Recorder said that it was an aggravated case, and sentenced the prisoner to the state prison for twenty years at hard labor.

A Sorrowful Wedding.—The following story is told of a sad wedding that occurred recently in Paris, France. The whole party came out of the church weeping. The bride wept, the mother wept, the company wept, and the groom wept more copiously than all combined. The only personage who did not weep were four men and a child. The child was born out of wedlock, and had to give it a name the parents had married before they parted forever. The groom was a young clerk, sentenced to transportation for forgery, and he was to leave the following morning. The four men who accompanied him were police agents, ordered to go with him to church and to the mayor's office, and to bring him safe back to prison after the marriage was celebrated.

Guilty of Rape.—Hugh Henry was tried before Recorder Hackett on May 21st on the charge of committing a rape upon Ann Cosgrove, who swore that on the 13th of April he perpetrated this crime, to which Hugh pleaded "guilty." The recorder, in passing sentence, said:—"This is a clear case upon the papers, and, in addition, there is an indictment against you for highway robbery, growing out of the same transaction. In view of your having pleaded guilty, and saving the time of the court and jury, I will take the responsibility of cutting off the sentence which I would otherwise impose should you have insisted upon a trial. You are sentenced to the state prison at hard labor for the period of seventeen years.

A Highly Tempered Female.—A divorced woman, living in Hartford, of sharp temper and not over-tidy habits, but possessed of money, had a conversation lately with one of her neighbors—a gentleman living in the southern part of this city—and the subject of the woman's late husband was referred to. "O, he would never have joined the church so soon if he did," said Mr. ——, "only for you; he was after you." "Well, he got me, didn't he; and my money, too?" said Mrs. ——. "Yes, and he got awfully cheated." Just then Mr. Y., who is already baldheaded, jumped like a youth of fifteen to get out of the door and save his head from the broomstick.

An Unnatural Father.—Jonathan W. Russell, of Sunapee, N. H., was arraigned on May 16th, for committing a rape on Nellie M. Russell, his own daughter, thirteen years old. Respondent waived examination, and was bound over to appear at the September term of the court in the sum of $500, and failing to obtain bail, was committed to jail.

A young lover called his girl a "sweet fawn," and the next day the simple minded lass discovered in one of her old school books that "faun" was the name given to the Roman deities, which were guardians of the woods, that their form was mostly like the human body, but they had short goat's tails and large horns. The next interview between the couple was short and not very sweet.

A Long Story.—A sheriff who was taking two convicts to the state prison last week, when the train stopped at Sing Sing, called out:—"Step out, gentlemen, fifteen years for refreshments."

CLIPPER VARIETIES.

Comprising Sentimental Ballads, Songs and Dances, Comic Songs, Jokes, Old Bills, Reminiscences, etc.

WRITTEN AND COLLATED EXPRESSLY FOR THE NEW YORK CLIPPER.

BONES AS A VICTIM TO THE PEN.

Interlocutor.—So, Bones, you've enrolled yourself among the candidates for literary fame? (Unfolding a newspaper). I didn't know you had the excelsior in you so strong on you.

Bones.—What sort ob complaint am dat? I ain't been on no bender."

Int.—The excelsior—don't you know what that is?—the literary longing—the divine afflatus.

Bones.—Who a jackass? Can't a feller hab an idea and git it printed into a newspaper but ebry fool mus' pick him up about it? I'd hab you know I once ran a newspaper myself.

Int.—You run it like the ground, I suppose you mean—ran it down.

Bones.—I know it was a great favorite wid de trunk makers, and de gals wouldn't hab nuffin' else—for dair curl papers. I write de fine poetry for it and make all de jokes. I tole you how it was:—Last fall, you know, I got out o' work, and one day as I was walkin' de docks long wid Pete Lammons (he was flat broke, too), "Pete," says I, "I got a new idea—let's start a paper." "How you do dat?" says Pete, "we ain't got a cent, bofe of us." "Well," said I, "Pete, we'll club togedder, and dat shall be our capital." "Who you propose to club?" ax Pete. "Ebrybody dat won't subscribe," I says. "Dere's too much work about dat—hab to club de whole community." "Shoo!" says I—"don't all de newspapers do it? Dey'm like policemen—dey'm noting widout de club. Well, dat question was settled and we got out our paper—a bully one it was, 'bout de size of a bed quilt. "Nobody should be widout it." I said in de 'vertisement; "can read it all day and cubber himself up wid it at night." De werry fust joke I got off de office was mobbed by de legal fraternity. I axe, why am a unsuccessful shyster like a dishonest marketman? Bekase he sells his patrons. Nex' one I got off, I got all de vocalistses down on me. Why am a celebrated female singer like a fust class hoss? "Kase her voice am remarkable for its timber, and her eye for its bones. Her voice has an ascending scale, and it has a number of flats in it, while it would be hard to span her if it wasn't for her girders. Well, dat wouldn't do widout some ole 'traction, so I sot down an' writ a nobel.

Int.—You wrote a novel?

Bones.—Yes. I writ a nobel. One ob de critix said it was swell, and anudder said it was no wonder, for it was made out of my own head. Anudder chap said my style was too floored—

Int.—Florid, sir—florid.

Bones.—Anudder complain dat dere wasn't enuff blood and thunder in it; so sex' number I killed off all de characters, and dere was many cases of murder and running and so forth in de neighborhood arterwards dot de 'forities indict my story for a nuisance, and dat kill de paper and I give up de biz.

Int.—We'll give you up, then, and bid our Little Sweetheart, Come and Kiss Me.

WRITTEN FOR THE NEW YORK CLIPPER BY FRANK H. BRANCH.

Little sweetheart, come and kiss me,
Just once more before I go;
Tell me truly, will you miss me,
As I wander to and fro?
Long and weary will the pressing
Of your ruby lips to mine—
With your dimpled hands caressing
And thy snowy arms entwine.

Chorus.—Little sweetheart, come and kiss me,
Come and whisper sweet and low,
That your heart will sadly miss me
When I wander to and fro.

Little sweetheart, come and kiss me—
We may never meet again—
We may be asunder then;
Down the dear old shady lane;
Future years may bring us sorrow
That could be most wonderfully mended has ow—
Still of care we should not borrow,
Come and kiss me e'er I go,

Chorus.—Little sweetheart, etc.

A BILL OF THE PLAY OF ONE HUNDRED AND EIGHTEEN YEARS AGO.

To Mr. A. H. Fisher, of Philadelphia, we are indebted for the following copy of a play bill, in his possession, which cannot but prove of great interest to all who are interested in any way in the drama and its appendages:

FOR THE BENEFIT OF MR. RIGBY.
By a Company of Comedians.
AT THE NEW THEATRE, NO. 11 BEAVER STREET, NEW YORK.

On Monday evening, being the 4th of February, 1754, will be presented a new tragedy, called

THE GAMESTER.

Beverley.....Mr. Rigby	Dawson.....Mr. Clarkson
Lewson.....Mr. Miller	Waiter.....Mr. Adcock
Stukeley.....Mr. Singleton	Mrs. Beverley.....Mrs. Hallam
Jarvis.....Mr. Hallam	Charlotte.....Mrs. Breeding
Bates.....Mr. Bell	Lucy.....Mrs. Clarkson

The Epilogue to be spoken by Mrs. Hallam.
A dialogue to be sung by Mr. Adcock and Mrs. Love.
The Ambassadors of the Centre Park as a perpetual gift, through them, to the city of New York forever." (Applause.)

To which will be added a dramatic satyre, called LETHE; Or, ÆSOP IN THE SHADES.
Private Box, 6s.; Pit, 4s. Gallery, 2s.

N. B.—For the better accommodation of the ladies, the boxes are enlarged. Mr. Rigby humbly hopes that gentlemen and ladies will not take it ill, that he cannot make personal application; a pleasure he should think a great gratification. Therefore, those that chuse tickets, are desired to send for them at Mr. Parker's and Mr. Gaine's printing offices, at the King's Arms Tavern, and at Mr. Rigby's at Mr. Hallam's. Vivat Rex.

To begin at 6 o'clock. New York, February 4th, 1754.

"IN THE TWILIGHT."—SONG.*

BY WALDORF H. PHILLIPS.

Sitting in the twilight gleaming,
Shadows playing round my feet,
Memories soft come o'er me stealing,
Mem'ries bitter, sad and sweet;
And my thoughts go fondly roaming
Back to days that never fled,
While my heart is sadly beating
For a loved one who is dead.

Once again I see her loved face,
See her sitting by my side;
Hand in hand, once more I whisper,
For she is my promised bride.
Once again I hear her murmur
Words most dear to my poor heart—
Oh, this subject will be my ruin,
Oh, that we should meet to part!

Ah! how fondly mem'ry lingers
On those days too sweet to last;
They have gone and left me only
Recollections of the past;
For, one day, He took her from me,
Ere she yet had been my bride,
And I felt that all my glad hopes
Perished with her when she died.

Soon my lone life will be ended,
And my earth's task finished be;
Then, in heaven I shall meet her,
Then, again, her love I'll share.
And the lovers who were parted
By the ruthless hand of Death,
They shall be united
In a never ending breath.

* Parties desiring to set the above to music must first obtain the author's consent. Address care CLIPPER.

PERHAM'S MINSTRELS.

This band has long ceased to exist. The company performed in this city some years ago, in connection with Perham's Gift Enterprise. We are under obligation to Mr. O. A. Merse, bill poster, of Skowhegan, Me., for the following programme. The year is not stated in the bill, but we believe it was in 1855.

TOWN HALL SKOWHEGAN, ME.
SATURDAY EVENING, MARCH 6th,
Grand Attraction, Positively One Night Only of the PERHAM TROUPE.

The Perham Troupe, being on their return to New York, will have the honor of appearing before the citizens of Skowhegan, in a GRAND ENTERTAINMENT, consisting of an IMMENSE BILL OF ATTRACTION!
The greatest treat in Ethiopian Minstrelsy ever presented to the people of Skowhegan.

PROGRAMME—PART I.

Grand Overture—Massaniello.....Full Band
Operatic Chorus.....Company
Oh, Wasn't that a Full-Back? (new).....Johnny Daley
Gentle Annie—by the charming ballad singer.....John Haskett
Sam Johnson—an amusing story.....A. Jones
Do not Drive so Fast.....J. Clusky
Nineteen Years Ago (original).....Johnny Butler
Let's Speak of a Man.....Montgomery
The celebrated Anvil Chorus.....Company
Sleighing Duett, with whip and bell, accompaniment.....Company
Driver of the Fast Horse.....John Daley

PART II.

Violin Solo.....Carl Trautman
Favorite Ballad.....John Haskett
Fancy Dance.....Master Eugene
Banjo Solo and Song, including a history of the Banjo...A. Jones
Sir Robert Ridley.....John Daley

THE BLOOMER PROMENADE.
By Master Eugene.
Napoleon Highflyer.....Jones | Jealous Jake.....John Daley

PART III.

Comic Banjo Solo.....Dick Parker
Challenge Dance, by Parker, Daley and Company.
Champion Jig Dance, by the best jig, reel and fancy dancer in the world, Clusky.
Banjo and Duet—Master and Pupil.....Daley and Jones
Introducing the wonderful Spirit Rapping Burlesque, with mysterious demonstrations.
Professor.....John Daley
Ending with the celebrated Dance entitled
STAND THE STORM.
Dancing by Clusky, Johnny Daley and Company.

Tickets 25 cts. Seats reserved during the day without extra charge. Doors open at 6½ o'clock. Performance commences at ½ to 8.

GOOD-BYE, THROUGH THE BLIND.

INSCRIBED TO L. W. F. BY GEO. G. HART.

I stood upon the platform of the morning's early train,
As we swiftly left the station far behind;
And I glanced up at a window where I saw a fairy hand
Waving "Good-bye, darling, good-bye," through the blind.

I could not see my sweetheart, though I know that she was there,
And that little hand—none other's of that kind
Ever grew upon a human form," so rounding and so fair,
Kept gently waving "Good-bye" through the blind.

And I wondered as with lightning steps the train sped on its way,
And left my darling's home so far behind.
That returning to that cherished spot at somewhat later day,
Would that hand be welcome through the blind.

It might, perhaps, be months or years ere I again shall see
My darling, but to that I am resigned.
For I know that when returning, and when near her I shall be,
She will wave a merry welcome through the blind.

REMINISCENCE OF YANKEE HILL.

Mr. Eugene F. Eberle, of the Walnut Street Theatre, Philadelphia, presents us with the appended memento of one of Yankee Hill's entertainments:—

HILL'S ECCENTRICITIES.

MR. G. HILL, alias YANKEE HILL, respectfully makes known to the public that he will commence a course of COMIC ENTERTAINMENTS AND LECTURES, at the Lecture Room of the PHILADELPHIA MUSEUM, entrance on George street, THIS EVENING, Nov. 4th, 1844, and Every Evening during the week, when he will introduce the peculiarities of "Down East," by an introductory LECTURE, ANECDOTES, DIALOGUES, YANKEE STORIES, &c.,
with imitations of English, French, Irish and American personages, forming altogether graphic illustrations of more than twenty laughable characters, which have been received with the utmost enthusiasm by brilliant and fashionable audiences, in the principal cities of Europe and America.

TICKETS 25 cents each, to be had at the office of the Lecture Room.

Doors open at 6½; Lecture to commence at half-past seven o'clock.

About a Lie.—Mr. Twiss, a great traveler, was talking of a church he saw in Spain, which was a mile and a half long. "Bless me exclaimed Garrick, "what a wonderful thing! and how broad was it?" "About ten yards," said Twiss. "This is, you will observe, gentlemen," said Mr. Garrick, "not a round lie, but differs from his other stories, which are generally as broad as they are long."

A REMINISCENCE OF THE ELDER WALLACK.

THE LONDON STAGE. FIFTY-SEVEN YEARS AGO.

Through the courtesy of Edwin Imrie, Esq., late of the Strand Theatre, London, Eng., now with the Parepa Rosa opera company, we are placed in possession of a bill in which, it will be seen, the name of "Old Wallack" figures:—

THEATRE ROYAL, DRURY LANE.

This present TUESDAY, February 28th, 1815, their Majesties' Servants will perform the Tragedy of DOUGLAS.

Norval.....Mr. S. Penley	Stranger.....Mr. Wroughton
(From the English Theatre at Brussels, his first appearance on a London stage).	Donald.....Mr. Cooke
	Officer.....Mr. Fisher
Lord Randolph.....Mr. Holland	Servant.....Mr. Maddocks
Glenalvon.....Mr. Raymond	Matilda.....Mrs. Harley
	Anna.....Miss Boyce

To which will be added, 28th time, a new Musical Romance, in 2 Acts, called
THE NINTH STATUE; Or, THE IRISHMAN IN BAGDAD.

Leyn, Prince of Saxora.....Mr. Wallack
Ulfranzey, an Irish Traveler.....Mr. Johnstone
Boubiker Mousin, a Dervise of Bagdad.....Mr. Oxberry
Morabec, a benevolent Magician.....Mr. Knight
Axfrael, King of the Genii.....Mr. Waldegrave
Iman.....Miss Tidswell
Officer of the Guard.....Mr. Maddocks
Alcolomb, a Princess of Bagdad.....Mr. Chatterly
Nora, Daughter of Kilrooney.....Miss Boyce
Muca.....Miss Kelly	Genii.....Miss Tidswell

The Tragedy of MACBETH, revived with unprecedented splendor, continuing to excite, in an extraordinary degree, the public curiosity, will be acted on Thursday, the 9th of March, and KING RICHARD THE THIRD on Monday, March 13th, and every alternate Monday.

Miss L. Kelly, having been honored with unanimous and increased applause, will repeat the character of Juliet (for the 8th time) on Saturday next. Romeo, by Mr. Kean.

THE SHAKESPEARE MONUMENT.

The Unveiling and Dedication Ceremonies at Central Park.

On the afternoon of May 23d a large number of people assembled at Central Park to witness the dedication ceremonies of the Shakespeare statue. An amphitheatre had been erected for the accommodation of those participating in the ceremonies and invited guests. It was some 120 feet in diameter, and open only on the western side. In the centre of the inclosure stood the statue, concealed from view by being draped with American flags of silk with golden stars. Standing facing the statue at the western opening, we saw immediately in the rear of the statue Theodore Thomas' orchestra of one hundred instruments, and the Arion Society, numbering about one hundred and twenty persons. On either side were raised seats for the invited guests, among whom were prominent citizens and some few members of the dramatic profession, chiefly from the companies of Booth's and the Fifth Avenue Theatres. Immediately in front of the statue were seats for the executive committee, and to the right and left thereof rostra for the speakers. Around the inner front of the amphitheatre rare flowers, plants and exotics were profusely arrayed. Around the outer circle were numerous supporting posts, terminating in flag staffs, from which depended the flags of all nations. Access to the amphitheatre could only be had by cards of admission, while upon the lawn, in front of the western opening, were placed numerous benches for the accommodation of the general public. Light showers fell at intervals during the morning, which, probably, prevented many from attending. At three o'clock precisely the orchestra commenced the overture to "King Lear," by Berlioz. At its conclusion, Judge C. P. Daly rose from the seats assigned to the executive committee, and delivered the following address on presenting the statue to the Park Commissioners:—

"Ladies and Gentlemen.—In the early part of the year 1864, intelligence having reached this country of the intention to erect a permanent memorial, both in England and in Germany, to commemorate the occurrence in that year of the three hundredth anniversary of the birth of Shakespeare, it occurred to several gentlemen of this city that it would be appropriate for us, an English speaking race, to whom the poet's works belonged as a part of the common property of our language, to take part in this movement, and to erect a monument here, the chief feature of which should be the most faithful representation of the poet's person that it might be in the power of the artist to produce. The period was one of unpropitious omen, the country being convulsed by a civil war waged for the preservation of the Union, but, notwithstanding this discouragement, it was resolved to take the initiatory, and on the 23d of April, the three hundredth anniversary of Shakespeare's birth, a few gentlemen, in the presence of a small concourse of spectators, laid the corner stone of the proposed structure with appropriate ceremonies. To Messrs. Booth, Daniel Dunlap and Hackett, the only survivors who had not survived to witness and share in the completion of a work in which he took so great an interest—are due the first efforts to secure a fund for the achievement of this object. An executive committee was formed, and through their untiring exertions the amount was raised by voluntary contributions of citizens of New York. The work was then committed to Mr. John Quincy Adams Ward—whose brilliant and wonderfully individual genius needs no eulogy, except that he should adhere as closely as possible to the representation of the poet's person, to the Chandos portrait, the Stratford bust, and the print prefixed to the first edition of the poet's works, those being the most authentic memorials we have, and how faithfully he has preserved all that they embody, and how successfully he has reproduced the man as he may be supposed to have looked while living, will be appreciated by all who are familiar with the subject when that great American and distinguished artist is revealed. Eight years have elapsed since the first initiatory steps were taken; but to produce a satisfactory representation of Shakespeare's wonderfully individual mind has ever been known, was no ordinary undertaking; and when it is remembered that it has been several times attempted, and never successfully. It will be a great triumph of American art if, as I think and feel, it has now been achieved. The delay of nearly a year has been occasioned by the absence of the base of the monument, which is to be made of stone, regarded by the artist as the most appropriate for the statue, and which had to be procured from and wrought in Scotland. We have every reason to suppose that it would. In compliance with the contract, have been here before the month of April, and, having that assurance, it was our intention to have had the unveiling on the 23d April last, the anniversary of the poet's birth. It has not, however, arrived, and, unwilling that another summer should go by, we have had a temporary base erected that the inauguration might take place today. And now being about to commit to the granite the poet's subject of Shakespeare; that will be the province of the distinguished and venerable American poet, who is here to-day as the orator of the day, a brilliant to be the great predecessor. The labors of myself and colleagues will end in leaving Shakespeare's image here, amidst trees and flowers, paths, brooks and sylvan scenes—objects which he loved, which he has so exquisitely described, and which were to him the fruitful source of so many beautiful and instructive similes. There remains, then, but to tender, as I now do, on behalf of the contributors, this structure to the Commissioners of the Central Park as a perpetual gift, through them, to the city of New York forever." (Applause.)

Messrs. J. Q. A. Ward, the sculptor, and J. Wrey Mould, the architect of the pedestal, then pulled the cords connected with the drapery, letting the same fall to the ground, and revealed the statue in full light, which elicited from the entire assembly long continued applause, mingled with cheers and waving of handkerchiefs. The figure is somewhat larger than life, yet not of heroic size, and stands on a temporarily wooden pedestal, some eight or nine feet above the level of the ground. The poet is represented as standing in a meditative attitude, the weight of the body resting principally upon the right leg, while the left is slightly advanced, with the knee a little bent, as though he had been pacing his room, reading, and had paused a moment to reflect. His right hand, partly closed, rests lightly upon his hip, while his left, grasping a book, with its fingers between the leaves, is pressed to his chest. His head is inclined forward, and he is dressed in the Elizabethan costume of trunk hose, a jerkin with turned up cuffs, a rolling collar, low shoes with rosettes, and from his right shoulder hangs a short cloak, one side of which is thrown over the left arm. The granite pedestal, which is being cut in Scotland, but will arrive, the committee deemed it fit not to further postpone the inauguration ceremonies; hence the use of the temporary pedestal referred to. When the statue was unveiled, a placard was found affixed to the pedestal, having written thereon, in large letters, the following lines by William Ross Wallace:—

"Old World, be is not only thine!
Our New World too has part,
As opulent and as divine,
As proud in soul and heart.

"His monument's for every clime!
All breasts of nature were his nurse!
So Shakespeare, with Truth's perfect chime,
Is, in the outstretched hands of time,
The mirror of God's mind."

However, before the audience had time to read it, a policeman came forward and tore it down. After the performance of "Au Die Runster" (Schiller's Invocation to Artists") by the orchestra, the Hon. H. G. Stebbins accepted the statue on behalf of the Commissioners of the Central Park in the following address:—

"Judge Daly.—On the 23d of April, 1864, an application was made to the Commissioners of Central Park for permission to lay the foundation of a monumental statue of William Shakespeare. This application was made in behalf of the actors and managers of the city by the late James H. Hackett, William Wheatley, Edwin Booth, and others, whose names are not recalled by the commissioners, and to-day I am called upon, as the president of the Department of Parks, to accept in behalf of the board and people of New York, the statue which has been erected through the means provided by the generous spirit and public charity of liberality. The generous conception formed by you and your associates has been nobly executed by an American artist, whose national fame will be increased by the success he has met with in producing this enduring image of the world's greatest poet—a work which will remind coming generations that we were able to appreciate the genius and know how to ffily honor the memory of Shakespeare.

"The Department of Public Parks desires to assist, as far as it can, in lending interest to the ceremonies of this day, as on all like occasions, when the attractions of the fine arts are invoked for the people are enhanced by works of high and refined character. In this spacious out-of-door gallery there are already truthful memorials of two great Germans, whose genius finds as full appreciation by our countrymen as it received in their native land. To the busts of Schiller and Humboldt we now add the full length of the man who was not only a poet, but whose intuitions enabled him to anticipate the results of Humboldt's science, and even those of the marvelous discovery in photography and perfector is also honored by another statue in this inclosure.

"The spot selected for this statue harmonizes with the designs of the architects of the Park, and the plans of the commissioners. The Mall was engineered and constructed with reference to such creations as this. It was expected that monumental works would line and ennoble its spacious avenues. Here is where the great poet likely to come to the people of the country, where he is the greatest propriety in furnishing objects for contemplation and study, so full of interest and instructiveness as the effigies of the great and good of past generations, as well as works of imaginative art which shall illustrate the sentiments, the thought, the sentiments, and the ideals of our own epoch.

"Without detaining any longer the attention of this vast audience, I have the honorable and grateful duty of the day, William Cullen Bryant, the congenial task which has been so fitly assigned to him. There is no man of our generation whose eulogy of Shakespeare could give to the great departed more satisfaction, could be hear it, and there is none among living poets whose name stands so high in the world's esteem. As one who has long been identified with the park which is to-day so honored and enriched, I am peculiarly rejoiced that a gifted poet, Ward and a Bryant have united here and now to give expression to that love and tender, and glowing appreciation of Shakespeare which is so universal among the citizens of New York."

The Arion Society, directed by Dr. Leopold Damrosch, now gave Nicolai's overture to the "Merry Wives of Windsor," and Dr. Damrosch's arrangement of the glee, "Tell Me Where is Fancy Bred;" at the conclusion of which Judge Daly introduced William Cullen Bryant, the orator of the occasion, who spoke as follows:—

"We have come together, my friends, for the purpose of celebrating the erection of a statue to one of the most wonderful men that ever lived: a genius great in all ordinary greatness, and destined to hold the admiration of mankind, through century after century, in the ages yet to come. In a part of this republic, which, within a few years, has been added to our Union, lying between the Rocky Mountains and the western sea, are yet standing a few groves of a peculiar kind of tree, prodigious in height and bulk, and seemingly produced by nature to show what trees can be when situated in a favorable soil and a congenial climate, with no enemy to lay the axe at its root. The earth, in its most fertile spots, in its oldest forests, and under its mildest skies, has nothing like them—no stems of such vast dimensions, no summits towering so high and casting their shadows so far, putting forth their new leaves and ripening their seed vessels in the region of the clouds. The traveler who enters these mighty groves almost expects to see some huge son of Anak striding in the forest, or some mammoth or mastodon browsing on the lower branches.

"So is it with those great minds which the Maker of all sometimes sends upon the earth and among mankind, as if to show us of what the human intellect are capable; if but rarely in this stage of our being, yet at least in that which follows the present life, when the imperfections and infirmities of the frame, which is now the dwelling of the spirit, shall neither clog its motions nor keep back its growth. Such a great mind was that of Shakespeare. An imagination so creative, a reason so vigorous, a wisdom so clear and comprehensive, a power of thought and expression so deep and so broad and just and true, a spirit so fiery, and at the same time so gentle, such acuteness of observation and such power of presenting to other minds what he observed—such a combination of qualities seems to afford us, as we contemplate a glimpse of what, in certain respects, the immortal part of man shall be, when every cause that dims its vision or weakens its energy, or fetters its activity, shall be removed. Shall be equally done away, and that subtler essence shall be left to the full and free exercise of the powers with which God endowed it.

"Such occurred to me, in thinking what I shall say at this time, that the statue which we contemplate would call that if he had but given his attention to the work of preparing for usefulness and distinction in other pursuits than that in which he had acquired his fame, he would have achieved in some of them a renown almost equal to that which attends his dramatic writings. The dramatic poet who puts into the mouths of personages whom he would represent as great beyond the common stature of greatness, words and sentiments suitable to their assumed character, must, in order to do this, possess an intellectual character somewhat like theirs; must in some sort partake of their greatness. I wonder not, therefore, that some who have insisted that Shakespeare did not write the plays which bear his name, should, in searching for the true author, have fixed upon Lord Bacon, finding in them passages which may be plausibly referred to the father of English philosophy, as the most profound jurist of his age. I do not accept their theory, but I find myself ready to read what they have quoted from his writings in support of it—What a giant among philosophers was lost in this dramatic poet; what an able jurist and legislator allowed the faculties which would have made him such to slumber while he employed himself in writing for the stage!

"So, when I read the passages gathered from his plays, to show that Shakespeare anticipated Harvey in his discovery of the circulation of the blood in its channels through the animal frame, my reflection is that here was an embryo physiologist, endowed beyond the fellow men with an instinctive perception of the interior mechanism of the human body, and with the power of detecting its subtle workings, hidden from man for century after century from the birth of our species. Not the less, nay, perhaps, still more remarkable, is the insight which Shakespeare into the different, even the most subtle forms of mental disemperature—an insight shown in his portraiture of the madness of Hamlet, that of Ophelia, and that of King Lear, all how distinctly drawn, how different from those of others. What a study for a physician might he not have made to an insane asylum! How tenderly and how wisely might he not have ministered to the mind diseased—he who so deeply read its wanderings and was so touched with a feeling of its infirmities! How gently might he not have led it away from its illusions and guided it back to sanity!

"Moreover, if Shakespeare had worn the clerical gown, what a preacher of righteousness he would have become, and how admirably and impressively he would have enforced the lessons of human life—he who put into the mouth of Cardinal Wolsey the pathetic words:

"Had I but served my God with half the zeal
I served my king, he would not in mine age
Have left me naked to mine enemies."

"I am sure that, if those who deny to Shakespeare the credit of writing his own dramas had thought of ascribing them to the judicious Hooker, or the pious Bishop Andrews, instead of Lord Bacon, they might have made a specious show of proof by carefully collated extracts from his writings. Nay, if Jeremy Taylor, whose prose is so full of poetry, had not been born a generation too late, I would engage, in the same way, to put a plausible face on the theory that the plays of Shakespeare, except, perhaps, some passages wickedly interpolated, were composed by the eloquent and devout author of "Holy Living and Dying."

"The name of our great dramatist fills the civilized world. Among the poets he is what the cataract of Niagara is among waterfalls. As those who cannot take the journey to Niagara, that they may behold its vast breadth of green waters plunging from the lofty precipice into the abyss below, content themselves with such an idea of its majesty and beauty as they can obtain from a picture or an engraving, so those who cannot enjoy the writings of Shakespeare in the original English, read him in translations, which have the effect of looking at a magnificent landscape through a morning mist. All languages have their versions of Shakespeare. The most eminent men of genius in Germany have been his translators or commentators. In France they began by sneering at him with Voltaire, and they end by regarding him in a transport of wonder with Taine. He stands before them like a mighty mountain, filling with its vastness half the heavens, its head in an eternally serene atmosphere, while on its sides burrow the fox and the marmot, and tangled thickets obstruct the steps of the climber. The French critic, while amazed at the grandeur and variety of the forms, cannot help suffering his attention to wander to the ant-heaps and mole-holes scattered on its broad flanks.

"To the great chorus of admiration which rises from all civilized nations, we this day add our voices as we erect to the memory of Shakespeare, in a land distant from that of his birth, yet echoing through its vast extent with the accents of his mother tongue, the effigy of his bodily form and features. Those who profess to read in the aspect of the human head the qualities of his intellectual and moral character, have always delighted to trace in the face, of which we this day unveil an image to the public gaze, the manifest signs of his greatness. Read what Lavater says of the features of the brain proper, and we shall see that he discovers in this noble countenance a promise of all that the critic finds in his writings. Come down to the phrenologists of the present day, and they tell you of the visible indications of the organs which were the source of his sympathy, his lofty idealism, his wit, his humor, his imagination, and every other faculty that conspired to produce his matchless works.

"This

understand that he was offered a place in the crew of the Americas last year, but declined.

THE PRESENT MATCH.

On the 12th of last December, Barney Biglin issued a challenge to any two men in Great Britain to row a pair-oared race against him and his brother John. Shortly subsequent to the appearance of this defi in print, Mr. W. M. Anthony, of the J. B. Jones Boat Club, of Allegheny City, wrote to us saying that if the "Bigs" would extend their challenge to the oarsmen of America, he would match two men to row them. A favorable reply was returned by the New Yorkers, and after a little haggling over time, manner of turning, etc., in which the Biglins gave way, the following articles of agreement were drawn up:—

Articles of agreement entered into this 20th day of February, 1872, between the Biglin brothers, of New York, and Henry Coulter and Lewis Cavitt, of Allegheny City, Pa., who agree to row a race in pair-oared boats in accordance with the following stipulations:—

1. Said race shall take place on the Schuylkill river, at Philadelphia, on Monday, the 20th of May, 1872, and shall be rowed upon the same five mile course as that over which James Hamill and Joshua Ward rowed in September, 1868, viz., starting from the upper railroad bridge and rowing down the river two and one-half miles to buoy boats and return; the hour of starting to be 3 o'clock, P. M.

2. There shall be two turning stake-boats anchored twenty-five yards apart, and each crew shall turn their own stake-boat.

3. Smooth water shall be requisite for the race, the condition of the water to be judged of and decided by the referee. Should the water prove unfit for rowing on the day named, the referee shall have power to order a postponement until the following day, at the same hour, or the first fair day thereafter. The referee shall also be empowered to postpone it in case the weather should prove unfavorable.

4. An outside boat becomes entitled to the inside track only when her stern has been sufficiently ahead of the inside boat to show clear water between them.

5. Any boat swerving from a direct course, in order to impede the progress of the other boat, shall be ruled out.

6. The boats' crews shall toss for choice of positions before starting in the race, and shall be started by the firing of a pistol, said firing to be fired by the referee. Time shall be taken when the stern of the winning boat crosses the line.

7. The race shall be rowed in pair-oared boats, each contestant pulling one oar, and shall be for the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000) a side, said amount to be deposited with the New York CLIPPER, as follows:—The first deposit, of one hundred dollars a side, to be posted at the time of signing these articles; the second, of four hundred dollars a side, to be posted on Saturday, the 20th day of April, 1872; the third and last, of five hundred dollars a side, to be posted on Wednesday, the 15th day of May, 1872.

8. Each and all of the above deposits shall be placed in the hands of the temporary stakeholder not later than five o'clock P. M. on the days aforesaid, or either party failing shall forfeit the amount previously deposited.

9. The final stakeholder shall be the Hon. John Morrissey, providing he accepts the position; if he declines to act, then some other responsible person shall be chosen at the time of posting the final deposit, to whom the temporary stakeholder shall transfer the money in his possession as soon as possible after the full amount of the stakes has been deposited.

10. The referee to be mutually agreed upon at the time of putting up the last deposit, May 15th. In case we cannot agree upon a referee, it shall be the duty of the final stakeholder to act as such, or appoint some one in his stead.

11. Either party failing to comply with all the requirements of these articles shall forfeit the money down.

12. The boats are to turn from right to left.

In pursuance of this agreement we hereunto affix our names.

LEWIS CAVITT.
HENRY COULTER.

Witness:—W. M. ANTHONY.
CHARLES M. COLVIN, } On behalf of Biglin Brothers.
JOHN SIXSES, }

After the staking of the second deposit the principals commenced active training, the Biglins settling down to work at Newtown Creek, L. I., and the Alleghenians taking their exercise, which was of necessity more severe than that of their opponents, in the neighborhood of their native city. On Monday, May 13th, the New Yorkers shifted their quarters to the banks of the Schuylkill, at Philadelphia, establishing themselves in the boat-house of the Vesper Club, the freedom of which had been kindly tendered them by the obliging members of that organization. Two days later Coulter and Cavitt arrived, and were provided with accommodations for their boats, etc., at the handsome boat-house of the Quaker City Club, while good lodgings were secured for them at the house of Mr. Joseph Sixon, Fairmount. Two spins daily were taken by the rival crews over the course up to the day of the race, which enabled each to become perfectly familiar with it. The long, graceful swinging, and beautifully regular stroke of the boys from the Empire State was more admired by those who watched the course to see them take their breathers than was that of the Pennsylvanians, which, though steady, was lacking in grace. They pulled with much vim, however, and the apparently greater amount of speed which they showed, coupled with the report that they had covered a mile in less than six minutes, had the effect of giving them the call in the betting, of which, however, but little was indulged in previous to the morning of the 20th inst. The boats in which they rowed were built of Spanish cedar—that of the Biglins at Judge Elliott's establishment, Greenpoint, L. I., and that of the western men by Coulter himself, who has gained quite a reputation in that locality as a constructor of racing craft, though he is a plow maker.

At a meeting held at the CLIPPER office on May 15th (John Smith and George Biglin representing the New Yorkers, and A. V. Force, Robert Brown and Wm. Smith the other side), Commodore Benj. F. Brady, of the Hudson Amateur Rowing Association, was chosen referee, a clause to that effect being inserted in the articles.

AT THE COURSE.

Delegations from the metropolis, Pittsburgh, Allegheny, Boston, Washington and other places, arrived at the City of Quakers on the 19th and by the early morning trains of the 20th, the majority of these were present, and as was shown by the eagerness displayed in investing on the result, and their willingness to lay odds that the "Bigs" carried the day. At first the strangers from beyond the Alleghenies manifested a readiness to accommodate them, but for some reason soon "weakened" on Boston and bid out for extravagant odds, which in several instances were given, the rate being two to one. Taken all in all, there was comparatively little betting, though pools were sold to a considerable amount, the New Yorkers being first choice in nearly all. Shortly past noon people commenced to assemble on both sides of the stream, and by the time announced for the start, 3 o'clock, the number present was estimated to be in the neighborhood of thirty thousand. The western bank of the stream, which was more eligible for sight-seeing and easier of access, was fairly black with humanity of both sexes, every description of vehicle being well represented, though by far the greater majority had made the journey from the city upon Shanks' mare. There was, perhaps, a larger assemblage of ladies present than had ever before graced an occasion like this on the Schuylkill, and the brighter eyes, from their fair cheeks, the increased lustre in their orbs, and exhilaration of spirits, attested the pleasure derived by them from the animated and picturesque spectacle. At this time the wind was blowing strong from the west and the water was quite lumpy. Delay was occasioned by the non-arrival of the gentleman chosen for referee, Mr. B. F. Brady, who had not been made aware of his selection in due time, owing to the fact that he was not at home when waited upon by the representative of the Biglins during the previous week. After waiting a considerable length of time all hope of his coming was given up, and the choosing of some one else to occupy this responsible, and very often unthankful position, was in order. Several persons were proposed, the gentleman finally elected being Mr. Austin Street, the nominee of Coulter and Cavitt, and a member of the Pennsylvania Barge Club. All afternoon the heavens had presented a threatening appearance, and about four o'clock the heavy mass of opaque clouds opened and drenched the anxiously-waiting multitude to the cuticle. Upon the principle that it couldn't be any worse they stood their ground, however, waiting impatiently for the coming of the crews. Shortly before five o'clock the steam tug, having on board the referee, judges, representatives of the press and a few others, arrived at the starting point, accompanied by the Fred. Fraley, another of the same sort, the steam yacht Flirt, and a large fleet of smaller craft, all laden with humanity. A few minutes later, the Biglins were observed pulling up stream, being distinguishable by their red shirts. Shouts of welcome arose from those on shore, and the crowd became more noisy and demonstrative; while, in the neighborhood of the upper stake, pool selling was more spirited. As yet the lads from Allegheny had not made their appearance, and this delay gave rise to a rumor that the race would not take place that day. The unpleasant feelings caused by this report were speedily dispelled, however, by the launching of their craft from the eastern shore, it having been carried to the starting point by friends, while Harry and Lew rode up. Their appearance was the signal for renewed cheering. All seemed to promise well for a speedy start, but the negligence of some one in not having placed the turning stake-boats caused another tedious, provoking delay, while the tug steamed down midway between the connecting railway bridge and the Girard avenue bridge, and anchored the boats in the midst of another rain squall, accompanied by high wind. The rival oarsmen sought shelter from its fury in adjacent houses, remaining there until nearly half-past six o'clock, when, the rain having ceased and the water become comparatively smooth, the referee ordered them to get ready. Five minutes later they pulled up to the starting line, the Biglins taking their position on the east side and their opponents on the left. The former wore white shirts, trimmed with blue, silk handkerchiefs of blue around their heads, and blue pants reaching to the knees. Coulter and Cavitt, regardless of the presence of ladies, were stripped to the waist, their nether extremities being clad in drawers of white, heads bare, and each wearing trunks of scarlet. The seats they respectively occupied, dimensions of boats, etc., are as follows:—

Judge Elliott.—John A. Biglin, Bernard Biglin (stroke); length, 35ft.; width amidships, 15in.; depth, 6in.; height at stern, 5in.; at stern, 3¼in.; weight, 400lbs. Built of Spanish cedar by Judge C. B. Elliott, and fitted with sliding seats. Length of oars, 11ft. 11in., weighing 5½lbs. each.

Twin City.—Lewis Cavitt, Henry Coulter (stroke); length, 36ft.; width amidships, 15in.; depth, 6¼in.; height at stem, 5½in.; at stern, 4¼in.; weight, 50lbs. Built of Spanish cedar by Henry Coulter, and fitted with sliding seats. Length of oars, 12ft. 5½in., weighing 7lbs. each.

At 6.37 P. M. the signal was given, and away sprang the boats, that manned by the boys of the Keystone State to the fore by a couple of feet or more, and as the Bigs seemed unsteady and flurried at first, this advantage was increased to half a length clear when opposite Laurel Hill landing. Both crews were now straining every nerve, and for a time the race was magnificent, while the scene on shore was one of great excitement, as was shown by each side shouting frantically to their favorites, and urging them to greater exertions. From the manner in which the Pennsylvanians had taken the lead, and the tenacity with which they maintained it, their partisans gained fresh confidence, and were more free in their offers to stake their spare change upon the issue; but the adherents of the New York crew were as confident as ever, reposing the utmost faith in the superior stamina and ability of their champions, and accordingly never allowed a reasonable offer to go begging. Forty-two strokes per minute were kept up by each crew until nearing Rockland, when they dropped to forty, the New Yorkers, after a clipping brush, having wrested the lead from their heavier antagonists, and thus early settling, in the estimation of their friends, the result of the race. Certainly the form shown by them was far superior to that of their rivals, who did not pull in unison, while the Bigs worked as steadily as a piece of machinery, the sweep of their stroke being greater, and possessed of more vim by odds. Indeed, a finer exhibition of the art of rowing than that afforded by the brothers Biglin few ever witnessed or challenged the admiration of boating men. It is needless for us to follow the contestants over the course. Let it suffice to know that, notwithstanding the tremendous efforts of the pair from Allegheny to turn the tide, their opponents gradually but surely increased, and widen the space between the boats, rounding the lower stake ten good lengths ahead, in fifteen minutes after starting, while the rain fell in torrents and wet the competitors to the skin; the stroke added to their advantage on the return, and that ultimately, with an easy stroke of thirty-nine to the minute, and rowing beautifully together, the brothers fit past the stake fifty-nine seconds to the good. The time of the race was 32 minutes and 1 second, which, considering the disadvantages under which it was made—the roughness of the water, rain and wind—is exceedingly good. The scene as the Biglins swept toward the home-stake was indescribable, thousands of people running along the western bank, yelling and shouting, while those on board the tugs, diminutive steamers and yachts, were fairly beside themselves with excitement. The winners have assuredly no reason to complain of a lack of warmth and earnestness in their reception.

The race over, the crowd made their way back to the city as fast as horsefl sh, steam, oars and legs could carry them, their spirits being elated or depressed accordingly as the contest had terminated favorably or otherwise. All were of a mind upon one point, however, that the race had amply repaid them for their bodily trials and tribulations. The winners were surrounded by a large crowd of friends upon arriving at the boat-house of the Vesper Club, eager to congratulate them upon their triumph; but they bore their honors meekly, and as soon as possible escaped from the throng. On the other hand, we there were to welcome the connecting railway bridge and the Girard avenue bridge, and or do reverence to the defeated oarsmen, as has often before been the case, and, we presume, will continue to be while the world stands. They deserved better, for, though clearly overmatched, they did their utmost to win, and pulled a very plucky stern race. The judges were Wm. Gardner and A. Y. Force, of Allegheny City, for Coulter and Cavitt; Thos. Elliott, of Greenpoint, L. I., and Michael Costigan, of this city, for the Biglins. Com. Brady and Messrs. Coulter and Cavitt, regardless of the presence of ladies, were stripped to the waist, their nether extremities being clad in drawers of white, heads bare, and each wearing trunks of scarlet. The seats they respectively occupied, dimensions of boats, etc., are as follows:—

Judge Elliott.—John A. Biglin, Bernard Biglin (stroke); length, 35ft.; width amidships, 15in.; depth, 6in.; height at stem

THEATRICAL RECORD.

Movements, Business, and Incidents of the Theatrical, Circus, Musical and Minstrel Profession.

☞ WE HAVE NO TRAVELING AGENTS, either general or otherwise, and any persons so representing themselves are acting fraudulently. All our regular correspondents are supplied with credentials, and we particularly request that no attention be paid to persons presenting their private cards with the words "Correspondent of the NEW YORK CLIPPER" attached, as they have no authority therefor.

Clipper Post Office.

☞ A STAMPED ENVELOPE, plainly addressed, must be enclosed for each and every letter sent for. Where there are two or more persons of like name in the profession, the line of business followed by the party addressed should be given, in order to prevent mistakes.

Archer, Fanny
Archer, Amanda
Bowers, Mrs. D. P. (2)
Britton, Maude C.
Baker, Sarah A.
Burke, Fanny
Barretta, Pauline
Clifton, Viola
Cowell, Sydney (2)
Coomes, Jane
Crabtree, Lotta 3c.
Cleland, Annie
Daly, Polly
Denin, Nellie
Daily, Polly
De Tang, Minna 3c.
Edwards, Nellie Elmore, Annie
Estelle, Lottie
Eldridge, Lillie
Freeman Sisters (3)

Austed, Dave H.
Adams, O. (2) 10c.
Adams, Frank
Allen, Johnny
Brooks, Almond
Burnett, J. P.
Benoit, O.
Barnum, P. T.
Buckley, J.
Barnabo, Adolfo S. 10c.
Battle, F. C.
Byrron, O. D. (2)
Bowron, Geo.
Barnard, Robt.
Bates, W.
Bruce, C. Amory
Bridges, Harvey
Brent, W. H.
Baker, E. H.
Bray, Walter
Brassell, Johnny
Barlow, Milton G.
Coney, Geo.
Cook, Woods
Chapman, Geo.
Crompton, W. H.
Carr, Lewis B.
Coleman, J. W.
Craven, Jno. T.
Constables, Geo. (6)
Cartright, Billy
Cake, Eli
Campbell, C. E.
Candell, Jean
Charles, G. W.
Clark, Bob
Croley, Jno. M.
Clark, Harry
Datallie
Dunspaugh, H. P.
De Witt, Thos.
Dailey, Wm.
Durand, Jno. W.
Dumont, Frank
De Leon, Leon
Delehanty & Stengler
Emerson, Jimmy
Edwards, Charley
Ellsworth, Edwd G.
Ellingham, Robt.
Franckum, Geo.
Forrester, N. C.
Forspaugh, Adam
Fernet, Didier
Flanagan, Edwd
Ferguson, R. Y. 10c.
Ferguson, O. J.
Ferdinando, Nonis
Gaylor, Low
Gulliford, Geo. J.

LADIES' LIST.

Freeman, Susie D.
Fontainebleau, Mlle. (2)
Gray, Minnie Gratton, Emma
Gray, Mrs. GeorgieM.
Heathcote, Kate
Harland, Ada
Hubbard, Addie
Hindle, Annie
Harrison, Annie
Howorth, Mrs E. M.
Jester, Bessie W.
Little Nell
Lee, Rose
Le Roy, Lizzie
Leonettis, Millie
Leroy, Lizzie (2)
Lake, Emma
McClellan, Jennie 3c.
M'Gill, Mrs.

GENTLEMENS LIST.

Gilfoil, B.
Gardner, Harry
Gardner, Daniel
G. K. O.
Grant, Harry W.
Hillmer, Theo.
Howson, F. A.
Haight, Bob
Heimbecher, Henry
Hasley, H.
Hakouns, S. M. 3c.
Hart, Harry (2)
Hunt, Charlie or Eph
Henri Family (2)
Hamblin, E.
Hengler, T. M.
Haverly, J. H.
Howard, Dan F.
Harcourt, Geo.
Howell, Prof Jas.
Hayward Bros.
Holston, Ira
Harkins, W. S.
Hamilton, Wiley
Jordan, M. J.
Jefferson, Tommy
Johnson, Burt
Kidder, E. F. (2)
Kelley, Chas.
Knight, Geo. S.
Keating, Jas. M.
Lee, Harry
Leopold, Geo.
Lee, Simeon
Leon, Dan.
Morely, Joe
Lingard, W. Horace
Lindley, Robt A.
Lavake, W. K. (2)
Lemoine, Edwd
Lord, Frank H.
Lozado
Little Amburgh
Linden, Ernest
Lukow, J. R.
Mulloch, Gabby
Maynard, Thos.
Martinez, Eugene
Morton, J. W.
Morton & Hughes
Morton, John (2)
Mayo, Frank (2)
Meade, Chas. E.
Moore, Frank
Melville, Chas.
Maya, Lorenzo
Milton, J. Vincent
Murphy, Joe.
Muserall, Saml.
Miller, Theo. H.
Millard, Harry
Markham, Pauline
Morton, Jennie B.
Newman, Monica
Nash, Mrs. S. A.
Nugent, Mrs. J. E.
Parker, Susie
Reed, Mrs. Wm. H.
Rosetti, Mlle.
Stanley, Blanche
Stanley, Kate
Sanford, Julia
Singleton, Kate
Teresa, Antonino
Tannehill, Nellie
Venturoli, Erminia
Whitney, Nellie
Washburn, Emma Wheatleigh, Miss
Wildman Clara
Wilcox, Mrs. James
Zulelia, Miss.

Munroe, H. H.
Marsden, Fred.
Marshall, H. A.
Mitchell, Wm. C.
Mann, Jas.
Messenger, J.
Mitchell, Robt.
McIntosh, Geo. D.
Older, P. A
Parker, Johnny
Pike, L. R.
Pluto (2)
Post, F.
Fries, Wally
Purcell, J.
Fedanto, Thos (2)
Quirk, Phil.
Rye, Chas.
Ross, Allen
Rivers, Chas. W.
Rinehart, Sam.
Robinson, Prof. J. S.
Rowe, John
Rubini, Big.
Ricardo
Robinson, Yankee
Russell, E. S.
Nelson, Harry R. (3)
Steers, L. M. W.
St. Leon, Harry
Sturges, Chas.
Sylvester, John
Scales, A. H.
Sothern, E. A. (2)
Straight, Ned
Sharpley
Stanley, Walter
Shaw, Harry F.
Smith, F. H.
Smith, H. S.
Sands, Dick
Salvator, Ernest
Stewart, Geo. W.
Snow, Wm. A. 2c.
Thompson, Johnny
Tulloch, Jack
Tucker, E. R.
Taylor, Col. J. C. (2)
Ternour, A.
Thorough, Harry (3)
Victorelli, W.
Vila, S. B.
Van Orden, Mr. 8c.
Victorelli, H.
Woodward, Lew
Waldron, D. G.
Wilson, Geo. H.
Wadge, E. H.
Wildman, Fred J.
Wilhelm, Gustav 8c.

Introductory Overture.

MONDAY, May 27th, '72.

We are about entering the rosy month of June, when nature puts on her most beautiful apparel, and hollyhocks and big sunflowers sprout and fructify in the genial rays of old Sol. The trees began to leave a few weeks ago, and the tender plants of Fifth avenue and like localities will begin to leave for greener fields ere the ides of June shall have passed away; some to branch out for a long season at Long Branch; some to water themselves at the mineral and whiskey springs which have made Saratoga so famous; and other some to lave their forms in the waves that break upon our seagirt shore, and much other stuff of that sort. It's a wonder to us that "the giddy butterflies of fashion" are not reminded, while rolling in the breakers, of the breakers ahead for the head of the family when the costs of these summer indulgences are brought to the notice of the man who runs the family. But sumquam dormio, let her rip.....

You have all heard of Gilmore, the Jubilee Man. You all remember what a big stir his big blow of three years ago made in that delectable Hub around which revolve the dependant spokes of other common weals. You are fully posted, also, no doubt, in the possible fact that Gilmore is trying to ontdo himself in the forthcoming Jubilee to be convened in Boston. Just to think that this same Patrick S. Gilmore, who, a few years ago, was the extensive aggregation of musical celebrities and curiosities ever gathered together in these United States—who will direct twenty thousand vocalists and ten thousand instrumentalists, with his gilt-edged baton—only to think, we say, that this great maestro (French spoken here with the greatest fluency) played a tamborine solo, with a minstrel band, twenty years ago. Yet such is the fact. We have the programme before us of Ordway's Aeolians, on which appear these two acts:—

Tamborine Solo.....P. S. GILMORE | Banjo Solo.....JERRY BRYANT

In next week's Varieties of the CLIPPER we shall present this interesting old time bill to the notice of our readers. But just to imagine the immortal Gilmore slashing round with a tambo, and doing his little solo with as much pride and satisfaction as he now feels in engineering the big Jubilee.....in view of the nomination of Greeley and his white hat for President, we can see no just reason why gentlemen should not be permitted to wear their white hats in theatres and concert rooms while the campaign lasts. Johnny Cox has been busy with his "hand-me-down" whites ever since the genial Horace became "it," at Cincinnati, and the city is fairly alive with the light emblems of the philosopher's choice. In view, too, of the dizzy height to which the wealth of hair on lovely woman's head now towers, we urge it, as a matter of right and justice to man, that stovepipe hats shall be worn in the theatres by all gentlemen who do not munch peanuts while looking at the play.....Girls are the cause of a great deal of trouble to mankind. How many of us may be seen every day robbing our employers so that we may clothe our heart's choice in silks and Dolly Vardens and things which could be had in no other way. How many of us, too, in the fullness of joy at the realization of love's young dream, send some stricken wretch into the gall of bitterness just for looking at her; send him, unshriven, beyond this vale of tears. And how many of us, too, with our feelings wrought up to the highest pitch of frenzy at the knowledge that she prefers another galoot to us, that she has gone back on us like a dog that returns to his vomit; how many of us, we say, commit suicide every day of our lives through some insane notion we have formed unduly by the evil machinations of some beautiful and seductive she devil. "Oh, that man should put an enemy in his mouth to steal away his brains." Let's see; that don't fit in very well here—guess we've got hold of the wrong quotation, but we'll let it go this time. In beautiful verse we'll recite for your entertainment the sad case of the

SUICIDE OF AN ACTOR.

'Tis said they've found, but who'd believe it?
'Way off upon the Bowery side,
A way that no one can object to
Of perpetrating suicide:
For, 'stead of swinging from a rope's end,
Or as the fool who poison sips,
Last night the town saw Tighe, the actor,
Hanging upon Miss Safford's lips.

.....We are told that "they" are now building palace cars to run on long routes, with billiard rooms, ten pin alleys, and other sources of rational enjoyment. We now propose that a theatrical car be added to these useful contrivances, in which dramatic entertainments can be given, and by which those actors who are not wealthy, can work their way to and from the golden shores of the Pacific. There is no knowing to what lengths and conclusions these palace car contraptions may be carried. When Adam and Eve were born together, no one would have believed that the time would come when Mr. Jonah would be swallowed by a whale; yet it was done, and now we cease to wonder at it. Just as the whale took in that man, just as easily do we swallow all these palace car stories.....A statue of Shakespeare was planted in Central Park on Thursday, May 23d, particulars of which may be found in another column. We are right well pleased that this thing has been done, for William was not a bad man, considering the evil influences under which he was reared, and this works do live after him," we are told. We believe that the soul of this city is better calculated to nourish statues than that of other cities. Now there's Philadelphia, only divided from us by a narrow neck of land, yet statues don't grow there like they do here. Many years ago—we forget how many, but it must have been thirty or forty—a number of "good men and true," who were not actors, planted a corner stone in the middle of Washington square, in that city, you will understand, from which it was given out that a great statue of Washington would shortly sprout; but although revolutioners, and war of 1812-ers, and veterans of our late war, aided by a new hydrant, have watered the spot with their tears, and so forth, the thing never took root, and George failed to come up smiling, as it were. Whether the thing took root down-ward, and will eventually turn up in China, we cannot say with any certainty, but we should not be surprised, for the immortal father of his country had a happy knack of "going through" things that he undertook. It might be well for the city councils of Philadelphia to appoint a rooting committee, to dig down to where that corner stone was planted, and see what's the matter. After going to the trouble and expense of sowing the seed, they should not let the thing rest. We owe it to the corner stone, we owe it to the sacred soil in which it was stuck, and we owe it to George, to see "how the old thing works," and have something done before the centennial celebration in 1876. And that's all we have to say about our statue which cropped up at Central Park on May 23d.

.....Edwin Adams, at the Theatre Comique, has been showing us a sight of a celebrated spec, and it wasn't a bad 'un, either.....Wonders will never cease, since now people have assumed such gigantic proportions among us, and offer such fabulous prices for curiosities. See here, now, what they've just turned up in Kentucky. Was born, they say, recently, in the town of Princeton, K-y, Ky., a calf that has neither mouth, eyes or nose, but was covered over with a shell resembling a turtle. They call it a calf, mind you, but our theory is that it's a turtle, and nothing else, and that the Princeton people are attempting to palm it off as a calf upon those who are calf enough to believe it; but as we raise giants and woolly horses, and make our own curiosities, generally, we are not to be imposed upon by the border ruffians of Kentucky, and it's well that they should understand this at once.....Somebody asks the question whether it is correct to call a musical critic a "sound judge." "Our Jim" says it "depends a good deal on the wages he gits, for he has sounded some of 'em in the middle of the week and they hadn't the price of a fish ball, no bread." We presume Jim's ipse dixit settles the question.....A correspondent wants to know "whether there is any sort of a shop in your city where silver tea sets, diamond rings, $500 bills, bureaus, rest horses and such things can be hired for presentation; that is, to flire long enough to be presented as a testimonial of respect, and so forth, in which the recipient is held by his fellow-citizens and co-artists." Any man who would send such a letter as that to us would probably steal. It is a dreadful insinuation against the prerogatives of the profession, and casts a dastardly slur on the rights of a free and independent people. And yet, now that we think of it, the idea strikes us that "a shop" of the kind would pay. Many a deserving artist would be the recipient of innumerable houses, and lots, and horses, and solid silver dinner services, if he could only hire the things cheap, and this idea opens the way for some smart, go-ahead man to set up such a shop, and hire out testimonials, to be returned as soon as the many admirers of the favored artist have been offered an opportunity to view the things.....We will now tell you a little story to make you laugh, for it isn't every story that will make a body laugh now-a-days; but when we get hold of a funny little bit we are always willing to let our readers join in the festivities, as it were. This is it:—Jimmy Anderson was a prompter of the good old school, a blunt, rude, blacksmithing sort of fellow who adhered closely to rules made in the generation before him, and if the theatre had taken fire, he would probably have been found a mass of charred remains beneath his prompt box, like the centurion at the gates of Pompeii. "Scott, ye divil!" he would roar out in a husky whisper, as the immortal John R. strode across the stage in the toga of Virginius—"Scott, ye divil! were ye' the wrong saide intirely. Eedilus comes on at the other." And so he would go on, issuing all sorts of directions as they came in his head, and as often countermanding them, without caring a nickel how great might be the man he spoke to. Scott was growling one morning at the manner in which Jimmy disconcerted him. "Pooh!" said Booth, who had just commenced an engagement, "He can't disconcert me. Let him try it—that's all!" Booth played an entire week, by the end of which time he had managed to irritate Jimmy by refusing obedience, without seeming himself at all affected. "I'll fix him!" said Jimmy. Booth went on for Richard. No sooner had he entered than Jimmy, who knew he was "dead letter perfect," began to prompt, in a voice which was heard all over the house:—

"Now is the winter —

"Of our discontent," said Booth, going on with it, gravely.

"Made glorious summer," said Jimmy, a little louder.

"By the sun of York," added Booth, irascibly.

"And all the clouds," said Jimmy, louder still.

"Which lowered upon our house," continued Booth, snarling over the words as if they were something in the nature of a quid of tobacco, to be chawed upon.

"In the deep bosom of the ocean buried," yelled Jimmy.

Just at this point, Booth's indignation got the better of him, and seeing Old Jimmy grinning at him over his spectacles from the prompt box, he suddenly drew his sword, made a dive at Jimmy and disappeared, r. h. 1st E. A howl was heard, and presently the frightened prompter was seen bounding across the stage four steps at a time in the direction of the stage door, followed by the infuriated tragedian—who, it is said, did not come back that evening.

City Summary.

M'LLE ADELINE FONTAINEBLEAU, trapeze performer; little Victoria Reynolds, song and dance, and Peter Cannon, Irish vocalist, were the fresh appearances at Tony Pastor's on May 20th. Mlle Fontainebleau has a finely moulded form, a pleasing countenance, and is a graceful and agile performer. Her evolutions upon the trapeze were characterized with such apparent ease and certainty that the minds of the spectators were relieved of all fear of dangerous results. Little Miss Reynolds sang a serio-comic song, and afterwards performed a song and dance quite acceptably. Although her personal charms are by no means remarkable, she bids fair, when she has ripened into womanhood, to become a performer of more than average merit. Pete Cannon, who had hitherto performed at this theatre, was warmly welcomed upon his re-appearance, and his performances were vociferously applauded, he having been re-called no less than five times. His tongue is accidental and his actions of worry are fresh and witty. Hurley and Marr, double song and dance performers, are very popular with the patrons of this theatre, being re-called some three or four times nightly. Billy Pastor's comic songs meet with much favor, and the sketches that fill out the programme are, as a general thing, well acted. The attendance was fair.

HENRY CRAIG, of the Fifth Avenue Theatre, paid a visit to the Riding Academy, at the corner of Sixth avenue and Twenty-sixth street, on Monday, May 20th, in company with several other professionals, for the purpose of taking some equestrian exercise. Ere he had proceeded once around the circle, his horse threw him, and he fell beneath its feet. Before he could rise, the horse stepped upon his head, cutting a terrible gash down the centre of his forehead. He was immediately placed in a carriage and conveyed to his residence. Some time will probably elapse ere he can resume his professional duties.

THE VARIETY SEASON at the Theatre Comique closed with the performance of Saturday evening, May 25th. The fresh appearances during the past week were Barney Aaron, "manual artist;" Miss Jennie Kimball, vocalist; Master Barney, Ethiopian performer, and Miss Mary Rice. Barney Aaron appeared in a dramatic sketch entitled "Dan Donnelly," in which he acted the character of the champion pugilist of that name. But little dialogue was assigned to him, but he delivered that little clearly and distinctly, and without perceptible nervousness. The main attraction of the sketch consisted of a mimic fight in a twenty-four foot ring, other noted pugilists acting with him. We were with Barney Aaron, a change being made at nearly every performance. Although the men were gloved, some heavy blows were interchanged, which were received in the best of humor. The contests were very exciting, and earnestly watched by the female portion of the audience, who, probably, for the first time witnessed such an exhibition. Miss Jennie Kimball, serio-comic vocalist, clad in a rich and tasteful costume, which became her well rounded figure, sang several songs, which met with great favor. To a good voice, well trained, she adds the fascinations of a beautiful face and arch manners, which go far to insure success. Master Barney, whose merits are too well known to require modulation, was warmly welcomed. During the evening he danced a jig, which was rapturously re-demanded and cheerfully accorded. Miss Mary Rice, a comparative neophyte, acted the little parts of Julia Young in a sketch called the "Intelligence Office," and Biddy Ryan in "Dan Donnelly." She is of medium height, has a plump, well rounded figure, a neatly turned ankle and coufinations, a pretty, expressive face, and evinced considerable dramatic talent. With study and application she will, we think, make an excellent soubrette actress, as she possesses all the natural qualifications therefor—archness, vivacity and mercuriality. The regular company filled out a pleasing programme with sketches and specialties. This theatre will remain closed during the present week, and be re-opened on June 3d, as a regular dramatic theatre, under the continued management of Josh Hart, with a dramatic company, headed by Charles R. Thorne, Jr., which will appear in the sensational drama by John F. Poole, entitled "Chicago, Before, During and After the Fire," which has been a long time in preparation, and upon which a considerable sum of money has been expended; and the principal places of interest in Chicago, Ill., will be one of the chief attractions. A large tubular boiler has lately been placed in an open yard adjacent to the theatre, the steam from which will be conveyed by large iron pipes beneath the stage, and as it ascends through appropriate orifices the light from numerous calcium will be reflected thereon through appropriately colored mediums, which should give to the audience a realistic representation of that terrible conflagration.

MR. FECHTER, for his new theatre in Fourteenth street, has adopted Mr. James Schonberg's patented inventions for working stage scenery.

MRS. CLEMER, who has acted under that name, and the name of Ella Dietz—a sister of Miss Linda Dietz—has been engaged by Mr. Daly for the Fifth Avenue Theatre for next season.

A GENUINE SUCCESS has been achieved by Sam Sharpley's Minstrels at San Francisco Hall, which equals the palmiest nights of the San Francisco Minstrels during their regime. The patronage is fully merited, as the entertainments are excellent, the jokes being fresh, as are the musical selections of the first part; while the artistic execution thereof is fully equal, if not superior to, the best band we have ever had in this city. C. S. Fredericks, Carl Rudolph, W. Henry Rice and Theodore Jackson were added to the company on May 20th, and all met with a cordial reception. The encores during the first part were numerous, and were responded to in a pleasant manner. In the second part W. Henry Rice sang "My Love to the War has Gone" and "Good-bye, Charlie," which were heartily applauded. He was costumed in female attire, which, for richness and taste, surpassed anything we have hitherto seen upon the minstrel stage. Harry Macarthy's character songs were favorably received. Charley White's sketch, called the "Laboratory," was acted by the author, Nelse Seymour and Joe Lang, with comical effect. Sam Sharpley's original banjo songs, and Gen. Grant, Jr.'s songs and dances, were also notable features. Delehanty and Hengler, song and dance men, are announced to appear this evening, May 27th. Some portion of the success achieved is, no doubt, due to the reasonable charges of admission, which are as follows:—Orchestra chairs, 75 cents; parquet, 50 cents, and gallery, 25 cents.

MISS FANNY HERRING commenced an engagement at the Bowery Theatre on Monday evening, May 20th, when she acted six characters in the protean drama entitled the "Female Detective," which was preceded by a farce entitled "Sarah Tibbs." Miss Herring was enthusiastically welcomed upon her return to the boards where most of her artistic reputation had been earned. She has lost none of her vivacity, and acted with as much dash as in days of yore. On Tuesday evening she appeared in the "French Spy," which was preceded by the farce entitled "Lollypop Dodger," and followed by the drama entitled the "Floating Beacon." On Wednesday evening Mr. Charles Foster, the stage manager, took his annual benefit, when "Bertha, the Sewing Machine Girl," in which Harry Cunningham acted voluntarily the character of Jack Ryerson, it being his first appearance during two years, the comedian's sketch of "Jenny Lind," with Miss Fanny Herring in the chief role, and the sensational drama of the "Old Straw Man of New York," constituted the programme. Both of the dramas were from Mr. Foster's own pen, and have been heretofore commented upon at length. On Thursday evening Mr. J. P. Winter, the heavy man, and a great favorite with the patrons of this theatre, received his annual benefit, when the programme consisted of the "Ticket of Leave Man," in which Miss Fanny Herring acted for that occasion only the character of Sam Willoughby and the drama of "Der Frieschutz." Friday evening was set apart for the benefit of the leading lady, Mrs. W. G. Jones. The performances commenced with the drama of "Ireland As It Is," played in one act. Miss Fanny Herring acting Ragged Pat, which was followed by a sensational drama entitled "Coals of Fire," in which Mrs. Jones performed, with the usual grace of manner and truth to nature, the character of Ella Roland. On her first appearance she was welcomed with loud applause, mingled with cheers by the gamins of the gallery, which was long continued, and presented with three large, costly baskets of flowers. After the conclusion of the drama Bobby Daly performed a song and dance called the "Pat Man's Ball." The performances concluded with a local drama entitled "Dick, the Newsboy," with Mrs. Jones in the title role. At the Saturday matinee the "Female Detective" was presented, and in the evening, for the farewell benefit of Miss Fanny Herring, and the closing night of her engagement, "Jack Sheppard," "Stage Struck Sally" and the "Snow Bird" were acted. This evening, May 27th, a new equestrian drama entitled "The Heathen Chinee" is announced for production, and Mr. Connolly, who has been absent from the boards for some time, in consequence of a broken arm, will re-appear.

AT THE FIFTH AVENUE THEATRE the season is approaching a termination. "Article 47" continues to attract a good attendance. On May 20th and during the week ar. Louis James acted Georges Duhamel in consequence of the accident to Mr. Henry Crisp, elsewhere referred to, and Mr. D. Whiting played Henry Deville, hitherto acted by Mr. James.

MARK SMITH and family sailed for Europe May 25th. His daughter Kate, accompanied by her mother, will reside for some years in Italy to finish her musical education. Mr. Mark Smith will return to this city early in the fall.

A FLUCTUATING BUSINESS may be chronicled as the result of the dramatic season thus far at the Thirty-fourth street Theatre. "Damon and Pythias," with Mr. E. Eddy as Damon, and the faces of the "Irish Outlaw," were acted on Monday and Tuesday evenings. On Wednesday evening Miss Henrietta Irving made her first appearance, and with Mr. Eddy acted in the "Stranger" and "Katherine and Petruchio," which bill was continued until Saturday evening, when the "Robbers" and "Catching a Wife," were performed. On the nights when fresh bills were presented the attendance was good, but dwindled on their repetition. A constant and rapid succession of novelties may possibly make this theatre a success.

THE MATINEE BENEFIT for the relief of persons engaged at the late Niblo's Garden at Booth's Theatre on Wednesday, May 22d, netted some $800.

LOCKENVIA, the wizard, sails for Europe on June 1st.

THE SONG COMPANY, comprising Laura Desmond, Irma Louise, Rachel Simmons, Starr De Witt, Fred. Williams, C. D. Coombs and A. L. Cooke, styled the Chicago Opera House Dramatic Company, has been formed in this city to play moral and temperance dramas. Parties wishing to engage it are referred to the advertisement.

AT THE UNION SQUARE THEATRE the Vokes Family appear during this the last week of their engagement in their specialty, "The Wrong Man in the Right Place," cast as follows:—Clara Stanton, Victoria Vokes; Sarah Jane, Rosina Vokes; Emily Morton, Jessie Vokes; Benjamin Buttontop, Fred. Vokes; Sampson Bimles, Fawdon Vokes. "Naval Engagements" is continued on the programme. On Monday, June 3d, Mrs. James A. Oates' Burlesque Company is announced to appear in the spectacular extravaganza, "Fortunio."

Miss AGNES ETHEL, Frederick Robinson, Master Martin and Thomas P. Sully sailed for London, Eng., on May 25th.

RUMOR NOW SAYS that Chandos Fulton was the author of "Black Friday, and was paid $1,000 for writing it.

D. H. HARKINS is to manage the Union Square Theatre next season, and Mark Smith will be a member of the company.

THE FRIENDS of the late N. B. Clarke are to meet at Masonic Hall, in Thirteenth street, Tuesday evening, May 28th, at 7½ o'clock, to complete arrangements for tendering his widow a benefit.

A SEASON OF ENGLISH OPERA, under the management of William W. Seguin, is to be commenced at Bryant's Opera House on June 3d. The company includes Miss Emma Howson, Mrs. Seguin, Miss Schofield, Mr. Brookhouse Bowler, Mr. Chatterson, Mr. Henri Drayton, Mr. Bartleman and Mr. Seguin. Mr. Behrens will be the conductor, and there will be a full orchestra and chorus.

MORRIS SIMMONDS, dramatic agent, 609 Broadway, inserts his card among the advertisements, to which we refer managers and others.

THE NATHAN DRAMATIC TROUPE from Australia is now in this city waiting for an opportunity to act here. The following persons compose the company:—Mrs. B. M. Nathan, Selina Nathan, Julia Nathan, little Marion, Masters E. and L. Nathan, E. C. Melville and Mr. Vincent.

MLLE. MARIE AIMER and her opera bouffe troupe took their farewell of this city at the Academy of Music, Saturday evening, May 25th, in "La Perichole, by Offenbach.

OOL. A. S. DOWNS, dramatic agent, 118 Broadway, advertises that Augusta Dargon and Johanna Pritchard, star actresses, can be engaged through him; also, he is prepared to negotiate with stars or combinations desiring to play at the Metropolitan Theatre, San Francisco, Cal., which has recently been refitted; and wants vocalists and dancers for a New Orleans, La., variety theatre. The St. James Theatre can be rented through this agency.

ROBERT CRAIG, comedian, and Augusta S. Pennofer, agent for Lotta, arrived in this city this morning, May 27th, direct from California.

LOTTA sails for Europe on June 15th.

PATRICK GALLAGHER was charged, in the Court of Special Sessions, with wantonly and maliciously posting a bill on property belonging to Grand Duchess. The case was dismissed on a point raised by defendant's counsel, that the board encroached one-and-a-quarter inches on the city property, and was placed there without the permission of the common council.

THE EXHIBITIONS of MacEvoy's Hibernicon at the St. James Theatre are announced to close with the present week. The season has been quite successful.

THE BUSINESS at all the places of amusement in the city during the past week has shown a gradual dropping off, and the attendance will soon be at the usual summer standard.

JOHNNY THOMPSON commenced an engagement at Wood's Museum on May 20th, acting twelve characters in the sensational drama entitled "Out on Hand," which was continued at the evening performances and Saturday matinee of the past week. We have so often reviewed Mr. Thompson's performances in this drama that we need only say they were fully up to their usual standard and pleased his auditors. Mr. Thompson now aspires to be considered an author, as we find underlined upon the bills for early production "an entirely new drama by Johnny Thompson, entitled 'Our Colored Brother.'" At the usual matinee performances the burlesque of "Dick Whittington and his Cat," with the Misses Belle Howitt and Pauline Markham in the cast, was preceded by the "Pretty Horsebreaker."

AT WALLACK'S THEATRE "London Assurance" was withdrawn after the performances of May 25th, and during the present week "Home" and the "Critic" will constitute the programme.

THE SUCCESSFUL CAREER of "Humpty Dumpty" is rapidly drawing to a close, so far as this city is concerned, and the Olympic Theatre will be occupied by other performers. G. L. Fox is to take a benefit on June 11th, when he will act Humpty Dumpty for the one thousandth time, and also be the last representation of the pantomime in this city.

THE MISSES EDITH CHALLIS and Lizzie Kelsey sailed for Europe on May 22d.

BENSEN SHERWOOD'S BENEFIT, at the Grand Opera House on Thursday evening, May 23d, was not largely attended, and many of the principal artists announced to appear did not do so. This benefit was simply a private speculation, and we regret that the result was not more propitious. The public have not yet been informed how much was received at the recent benefit given at this theatre for the sufferers by the recent conflagration of Niblo's Garden, nor what has been done with the receipts.

ARNOLD JONES, business agent and advertiser, who can be addressed care of this office, wants an engagement to attend to the business of a city theatre.

ROBERT BUTLER severs his connection with the Union Square Theatre on June 1st, and then goes with the Vokes family to Boston. Mr. Butler's management of the Union Square has not been very remunerative, we are sorry to learn, and he, no doubt, retires without regret. Mr. Butler has been manager of variety theatres in this and other cities for a number of years. For a long time he met with remarkable success at the well remembered "444" Broadway, remaining there until the place was destroyed by fire. While at "441" he also converted the Broadway Theatre, near Broome street, into a variety hall; he also managed 472 Broadway for a time, and later had possession of the Theatre Comique, where he was assisted, and should have remained, but as great inducements were offered him to take the new Union Square Theatre, he accepted, and left the Comique. He was also manager of the Olympic and Melodeon, in Philadelphia, some years ago. We shall be pleased to hear of his success, and hope, at some future time, to have the privilege of again seeing him the manager of a hall in New York.

Dramatic.

MISS CARLOTTA LECLERCQ commenced her second week at the California Theatre, San Francisco, Cal., May 13th, in "Masks and Faces." Our correspondent, writing on May 18th, says:—"Together with G. W. Lederer, the scenic process, and placed, as it were, in new lights. More sweet and tender than usually depicted, the radiant manners and the swift wit lightly robing her emotional character made the one love of the actress' life deeply significant with pathos, sometimes even with touches of unutterable tragedy. The portraiture, distinguished by grace, the face of the old beau and dramatist being notably well realized. On the 16th, 'As You Like It' was revived before a crowded audience, and on the 17th, for her benefit, Miss Leclercq presented 'A Sheep in Wolf's Clothing' and the 'Honeymoon.' As Anne Carew, in the former play, Miss Leclercq won a great success. It proved a splendid piece of acting, of piercing meaning, strongly outlined and shaded with exquisite delicacy. The perfect command of emotion, the electricity of feeling and the ineffable sweetness Miss Leclercq displayed, awoke in the audience lively feelings of admiration and delight. By its little dramatic bit alone she would earn the right to take an enviable position in the histrionic art. 'London Assurance,' 'School for Scandal' and 'Hamlet' will be next produced, with fine casts, and Miss Leclercq will appear as Lady Gay, Lady Teazle and Ophelia, the latter character for the benefit of John McCullough, who will assume Hamlet.....The Zavistowski's close their engagement at the Metropolitan this evening. The theatre will be closed on Friday, Saturday, 24th and 25th, to allow of the perfect production of the 'Veteran,' which Mr. Charles Wheatleigh brings out May 22d."

MRS. OATES' COMIC OPERA COMPANY commenced a week's engagement at the Academy of Music, Pittsburgh, Pa., on May 20th, under the management of T. E. Beamer. Our correspondent, writing on May 24th, states that "the burlesque of 'Fortunio' was presented to a good audience. The entertainment was enjoyable throughout, Mrs. Oates singing with much spirit and purity, and receiving tributes of warm appreciation. The entire cast was satisfactory. New scenery had been prepared, and the piece was creditably mounted. 'Fortunio' was repeated on the 22d and 23d, to lobably large audiences. The 'Fair One With the Blonde Wig' was produced on the 23d, and for Mrs. Oates' benefit on the 24th, the comic opera of 'A Prima Donna of a Night,' is to be given.....Frank Mayo appeared at the Pittsburgh Opera House on May 20th, as Badger, in the drama of 'The Streets of New York.' The attendance was not so large as the merits of the performance would lead Mr. Mayo sustained his part with decided ability, was efficiently supported, and much of the scenery was new and elaborate, especially the Union Square scene. The piece was presented three times, after which it was withdrawn for 'The Octoroon; or, Life in Louisiana,' with Mr. Mayo as Pete, and Mr. J. N. Gotthold as Salem Scudder—both gentlemen acquitting themselves well credit. As Zoe, Georgie Dickson was successful, and all the other characters were acceptably enacted. 'The Octoroon' will be reproduced on the 24th. Next (this) week will close the regular dramatic season at this house. The fall and winter season of 1872 will open about the middle of September."

LILLIE ELDRIDGE opened on May 20th at the Opera House, Detroit, Mich., in her new play of 'Alma.' This is her first appearance in Detroit and she created a very favorable impression, being young and pretty, and possessing a good wardrobe, a fine voice, good articulation, and delivering her lines very well. "Alma" held the boards two nights, and on Wednesday she brought out "Elfie;" Thursday, the house being previously engaged, the company went to Jackson; to-night, Friday, "Mignon" is billed, with Miss Eldridge as Mignon; for to-morrow's matinee "Elfie" is cast, and for the closing night, Saturday, "Mignon" will be repeated. Robert McWade is the star played by the company next (this) week, opening on the 27th in "Rip Van Winkle," says our correspondent, writing on May 24th.

AT THE PARK THEATRE, Brooklyn, L. I., Percy Roselle closed his engagement May 25th, J. M. Ward succeeding him in the drama of "The Winning Hand." He has a benefit on Friday. On Saturday Mr. Carroll takes a complimentary benefit, when Mr. Gabriel Harrison will make his first appearance on the Park stage for eight years as St. Pierre in "The Wife."

LITTLE NELL, who is at present sojourning in Chicago, Ill., may be addressed in care of Mr. W. S. Rogers, No. 84 West Madison street, in that city.

LITTLE NELL, "the California Diamond," can be addressed as per advertisement.

J. W. LANEGAN is to open the new Academy of Music in St. John, N. B., on June 1st. Louis Aldrich, Rachel Noah, J. W. Hague, W. H. Daly, Belle Dudley, Mattie Manning and Nellie Oakley, of the Boston Theatre; J. B. Fuller, C. A. McManus, J. Peaks and Willis Seymour, of the Globe Theatre; J. W. Norris and Miss Josie Bachelder of the Boston Museum; Kate Denin, Louisa Morse, Georgina Reignolds, Emily Young, Walter Lennox, W. C. Pope, W. E. Owen, J. N. Edwards and others are engaged. Prof. F. A. Muller leads the orchestra.

FROM BOSTON, MASS., under date of May 25th, we have the following report of amusements:—"Little new can or need be said in regard to Joe Jefferson's Rip Van Winkle, which to-day closes its second week at the Boston Theatre, and remains but one week longer. It is attended by packed houses. To-night occurs Mrs. J. B. Booth's annual benefit. The programme is interesting, as follows:—General F. J. Lippet and Miss Nina Glover in the drama of 'Monsieur Jacques;' recitation of Bret Harte's 'John Burns, of Gettysburg;' by Mrs. J. B. Booth, singing by the Boston Chorus Club, and Schiller's 'Robbers,' with J. B. Booth as Charles de Moor, and Mrs. Booth as Amelia. After next week we are to have the Vokes Family, about whom considerable curiosity has been excited.....At the Museum, 'Article 47' still continues the reigning attraction, and shows no signs of a withdrawal. Miss Annie Clarke has never done better than as Mlle. Cora, and her acting has become a general topic of conversation.....At the Globe 'The Long Strike' was given on Monday and Tuesday to light houses, and on Wednesday the 'Colleen Bawn' drew only a little better. John T. Raymond appeared for the first time as Myles na Coppaleen, and gave a very humorous performance. On Thursday 'Lady Audley's Secret' was presented, Mrs. Barry appearing to advantage as Lady Audley, so much so that it is to be repeated this afternoon. 'The Marble Heart' was the attraction last night, with Sheridan as Raphael and Phidias, Boniface as Volage, Mrs. Barry as Marco, and Josie Orton as Marie. To-night it is to be repeated, Sheridan and Boniface exchanging parts, and Mrs. Barry and Miss Orton doing likewise. It will be interesting to compare the success of the two casts. Next (this) week 'Married Life' and 'All That Glitters' will be given. A very attractive performance is preparing for Cheney's benefit. Fox and 'Humpty Dumpty' open here June 17th.....Lydia Thompson's burlesquers at the St. James were greeted on portest in St. Louis, Mo., and will probably accept. She occupied the first position at the Cincinnati Sangerfest.

AN EXCELLENT PROGRAMME was given on the 18th ult., at Musical Fund Hall, Philadelphia, on the occasion of the first benefit of the Philadelphia Typographical Society. The following artists lent their assistance:—Miss Anna Boria, A. E. Taylor, Wenzel Kopta, Raphael Roccomoro, and the local Union. Mr. William Wheeler was the musical director. A large attendance greeted the above artists.

THE JUBILEE SINGERS, of Nashville, Tenn., under the auspices of the American Missionary Society, are billed to give one concert at Peoria, Ill., May 29th.

MLLE. ATHEE and her opera bouffe troupe gave "La Grande Duchesse," "La Perichole" and "Les Brigands" at Harrington's Opera House, Providence, R. I., on May 21st, 22d, and 23d, to large audiences.

THE BERGEN FAMILY, bell ringers, and Sol Smith Russell, humorist, commenced a season at Platt's Hall, San Francisco, Cal., May 20th.

MISS. CAROLINE RICHINGS-BERNARD sang Queen Esther in the cantata of that name at Titusville, Pa., May 28th.

MISS ANNIE LOUISE CARY, assisted by local talent, is to give a concert at Portland, Me., May 30th.

THEODORE ARNOLD, leader of orchestra, and P. Arnold, alto player, advertise for engagements.

PROF. CARLO TESSEY, of the Ole Bull concert company, with his brother, Eugene, a tenor, intend sailing for France, June 1st, and there organize a quintet concert troupe and travel on the continent.

THE FRAK FAMILY of bell ringers have changed their date of opening at Fort Wayne, Ind., to May 27th.

Variety Halls.

dance men, were the new acquisitions. Goss and Fox have created an excellent impression by their clever songs and dances, and are nightly applauded. Mlle. Annetta is a very neat, graceful, and accomplished artist. Gus Peters and Wm. Dimond have also been well received, being clever in their business. Harry Brown continues a reigning favorite, while his songs are capitally rendered. Maggie and John Fielding and the Lillian Sisters are mightly gaining in favor and add no little to the interest of the entertainments. Maggie Nichols, James Gaynor and Charles Armstrong are underlined for the 27th.....King's Royal Lyric Amphitheatre, corner Third avenue and Harrison street, will be opened on the 25th. So wrote our correspondent on May 23d.

LEW MORGAN, Dutch song and dance performer, who can be addressed care of this office, want an engagement.

ANNIE ADAMS, serio-comic vocalist, commences an engagement at King's Royal Lyric Amphitheatre, Chicago, Ill., on May 27th.

AN IRISH VOCALIST and a sentimental singer are wanted by Samuel Fitzpatick, who advertises.

THE LAURI FAMILY, pantomimists and ballet, commence an engagement at the Seventh Street Opera House, Philadelphia, Pa., on May 27th.

ARTISTS are wanted for the Williamsport Varieties, Williamsport, Pa. Address as per advertisement.

STALKER & HOPKINS, whose address find elsewhere, want a tight-rope performer to travel with a combination.

WALTER BRAY writes us from Cincinnati, O., with regard to a card emanating from certain performers cautioning other performers against performing an act entitled "Rebecca Jane," as follows:—"I am the author of 'Rebecca Jane,' words and music, and first performed it at Newcomb and Arlington's Varieties in Twenty-eighth Street Opera House, Sept. 4th, 1871, the opening night of the season, and shall continue to perform it as my exclusive property."

AT BERRY'S THEATRE COMIQUE, Wilkesbarre, Pa., the Bernado Brothers, Miss Annie Elmore, vocalist, and Millie Aldean, were the fresh attractions of the past week. Rip Van Winkle Berry was the leading star in his version of that legend, on May 27th. Miss Nellie Maskell and Val. Love are to appear in the burlesque of "Cinderella."

A PARTNER for the song and dance business is wanted by "Little Fraud," who advertises.

THE WALNUT STREET THEATRE, Kansas City, Mo., opened under Manager Carroll's auspices, May 21st, to a big house. Oscar Wilde is director of amusements. The company is composed of the Misses Gussie Lamereaux, change artist; Frankie Lee, danseuse; Mattie Bianca, comic vocalist; Lite Matice, Parisian statues; Mollie Dillon, comedienne; Mlle. Marretta, vocalist; Madame Edith Dot, balladist; the Misses Laura Campbell and Annie Forrester, songs; Mlle. Kanane, clog dancer; J. D. Laurens, German comedian; Messrs. Emerson and Granger, double song and dance, and John Shields, song and dance. So wrote our correspondent on May 22d.

VARIETY NEWS FROM CINCINNATI, O., up to May 24th, is given to the appended effect by our correspondent:—"At the National Theatre the new appearances have been Walter Bray and Lizzie Warren, the former of whom gave his original act, entitled 'The Kerosene Man,' and 'Sugar Bob,' and has met with a very cordial reception. Lizzie Warren is on the song and dance lay, giving 'Little Bunch of Roses' and others in good style. The other variety portions of the programme have consisted of the song and dance acts of Cincinnatus, vocalisms by Rosa Lee, and the admirable ventriloquistic efforts of E. D. Davies. The dramatic company, in addition, has given the pretty little drama entitled 'Woman's Vow,' with T. B. Hann as Sergeant Austerlitz, M. Wood as Francis, C. Broadwell as Walter, Nellie Walby as Teresa, and Rosa Lee as Manetta. The regular company has been thinned down, W. J. Halpin, the leading man, Frank Traynor, Harry McDonald and one or two others having departed yesterday to join the Keene Dramatic Combination, for a tenting season, the combination being at present in Mattoon, Illinois. The only departure this week will be 'Cincinnatus.' For next week a gift show is to be run under the direction of Harry Weston, with Prof. Lander and Mlle. Maud, magicians, as attractions. John Denier, gymnast, and Maggie Willett, vocalist, are also to be added.....At the Race Street Varieties the new appearances this week have been Cheney King, the latter an Irish vocalist, being a new beginner. Miss Adams' changes have made a splendid hit, and deservedly. Lon Florence has been seriously ill, but is recovering. Mortimer Williams, the 'peck measure' dancer, closes this week, going to Louisville, Ky. The rest of the company, embracing Sadie Lloyd, Minnie Baker, Marsh Adams, George Morton, Lew Lavanie and James Finley, has given an agreeable programme, which, however, contains nothing of particular note. Annie Hindle, the favorite character vocalist, is to open Monday, 27th.....At the Pacific the new faces this week have been Cal Mandeville, in character changes; Maggie Maguire, vocalist and actress; Johnny Mack, Dutch burlesque singer, who has just left the Bella Brothers' circus; and Billy Scott, clog. The old departures have included Catlett and Spence, who have gone to Keene's dramatic company, at Mattoon, Ill. Carrie Austin and Jerry Cavanaugh. Ventini, William Deverney, Harry Leary and M'lle Zulella still remain. Biz. continues good.....At the Olympic Theatre the fresh arrivals have been Johnny Donaldson, song and dance; Billy Reed, song and dance, and Lizzie Lindley, vocalist. Reed and Donaldson have made good impressions. A party calling himself Johnny Manning, but having no call to the name, attempted trapezing at the opening of the week, but fell and nearly broke his neck. Master Willy has left. M. A. Griffin, Johnny Weaver, Kate Hunter, M'lle Augusta, Minnie Warner, Lou Rainford and Georgie Wilson remain. Biz. very fair. Chris Rasmus and Tom Woodruff have organized a small party, styled Ransom's Minstrels, with which they appeared in Dayton, Ky., May 22d.

AT THE VARIETIES THEATRE, Pittsburgh, Pa., J. S. Edwards, G. F. Monroe, Jas. Douglass, Miss Kitty Henderson and Miss Frank Christie were the new appearances the past week. Mr. Edwards is a capital comedian and general performer. Mr. Moore, as an Ethiopian comedian, gives satisfaction, and Mr. Douglass is a clever burlesque actor. Miss Kitty Henderson's dances are received with favor, and Miss Christie is popular with Pittsburgh audiences. "Little Jack Sheppard," a lively extravaganza, concludes the performances. Emma Grattan appearing in the title role and doing it full justice. James Woolridge, doorkeeper, had a benefit on the 23d, a large audience being present. Business of the week averaged good. So wrote our correspondent on May 24th.

AT THE THEATRE COMIQUE, Detroit, Mich., on Monday, May 20th, Prof. Campbell, and Kearney and Moran appeared. Campbell introduced his Theatorum, a la Punch and Judy, and created quite a sensation, representing Dutch, Irish and Yankee characters, and afterwards gave a ventriloquistic act that was very good. Kearney and Moran, quite young lads, were exceedingly fine in their Irish songs and dances and double clog. Kitty Leroy, in addition to her jig, gave a double song and dance with Tillie Antonio, both acquitting themselves very creditably. The programe closes with Masonry "Exposed," a very funny burlesque by Whetony, which keeps the audience in laughter from the beginning to the end. Maggie Nichols and Jas. Gaynor close on the 25th and go to the Alhambra, Chicago. J. P. Hill, Leon Whettony and M'lle Mahretta also close and go to Buffalo, N. Y. The new features for the 27th are Blanche Selwyn, changist; Agnes Sutherland, vocalist; Minnie Baker, song and dance; Charley Walters and Tommy Winnett, Ethiopian comedians. So wrote our correspondent on May 24th.

TONY PASTOR and combination open at the Fifth Avenue Opera House, Pittsburgh, Pa., on May 30th, for a season of four nights.

AT SMITH'S ISLAND, opposite Philadelphia, a variety programme is rendered in the afternoons by a company including Alex. Zanfretta, the pantomimist; Tom Vance, comic vocalist; M'lle Kate, danseuse, and C. Barnard and Fulton Myers, comedians, the latter gentleman acting as stage manager.

THE ATTENDANCE during the week ending May 25th, at Mortimer's Philadelphia Varieties, was large. The company were strengthened on the 20th by Miss Adele Farran, serio-comic vocalist; Miss Helene Smith, danseuse and vocalist; Miss Annie St. Clair, danseuse, and Sam De Vere, comedian and banjoist. Miss Farran's serio-comic songs appeared to please the audience, and Miss Helene Smith met with a cordial reception. Sam De Vere's Dutch specialties and his banjo solos alike met with deserved encores. The St. Felix infant ballet troupe closed here on May 25th. Miss Alice Bateman and Wm. Noonan will make their first appearance on the 27th in their songs and dances. A grand complimentary benefit has been tendered the proprietor, Joseph M. Mortimer, to take place Thursday evening, May 30th, on which occasion C. A. Gardner, Lew Brimmer, Matt. Wheeler, and other artists have volunteered their services. Edwin Blanchard and Frank Wood continue at this establishment.

ARTHUR MULLIN, the proprietor of the Third Street Opera House, Philadelphia, recently destroyed by fire, has been tendered a complimentary benefit by his friends, to take place at Friendship Hall, Norris and Sepvivis streets, in that city, on which occasion Billy Wright, Lew Frazer, Mel Kurtz, Mollie Russell and other artists will appear in an attractive programme.

BILLY KLIGHT, Ethiopian comedian, is at present business manager at Joseph Lownsburg's, No. 347 North Second street, Philadelphia.

MISS MOLLIE RUSSELL, danseuse and vocalist, is at present residing in Philadelphia.

AT VALKE'S Winter Garden, Philadelphia, Miss Leo Gordon and Mlle. Cloetra appeared in their specialties during the last week.

THE ASTONDACE at the Front Street Theatre Comique, Baltimore, Md., the past week has been good. The Zig Zags, grotesque contortionists, opened May 20th, and executed acts which made a favorable impression. Miss Lizzette Bernard, another new arrival, is an excellent protean performer and a fine dancer. The regular ballet corps, having returned from Washington, after an absence of two weeks, appeared in the Can-can and the Demon ballet, the Misses Bettie and Sophie Remmeisberg, Susie Summerfield and Katie Wilson doing songs and solo dances. B. S. Hodges takes a benefit next Wednesday. Charley Howard, Maggie Gray and Canfield and Booker close to-night. Frank Converse and Hank Mudge are underlined.....The Opera House has been receiving a fair patronage. Miss Laura Le Claire was the fresh arrival May 20th, appearing in sketches, etc. The ballet corps from the Howard Athenæum, Boston, is still here, meeting with approbation. The principal dancing is done by the Misses Nellie Howe, Rose, Emily Smith, the Holt sisters, Sallie Howe, Richards and Emily Herbert. Dan Collyer's dogs and the songs of Amy De Brent and Lizzie Barret still meet with favor. Wayne and Lovely close this evening. Harry Price opens here May 27th.....The Odeon Varieties continues to do a fine business. Fernando Fleury, Claudia Walters, Jennie Morell and Minnie Seamon are the principal performers here at present. So wrote our correspondent on May 24th.

THE HOWARD, Boston, Mass., has not been successful with "Dark Friday," which is a dreary mass of absurdities. The only redeeming feature was a panorama of the Hudson, which was well worth seeing.

AT THE THEATRE COMIQUE, Peoria, Ill., a change has been made during the past week, Messrs. Rolander and Teall having retired, and Messrs. Thompson and Hinzie secured the business management, with Mr. James R. Jackson as stage manager and director of the entire amusement department. The above change took place on May 20th. Business good during the week, the programme being varied and well received. This evening Mr. Harry Mendel was the recipient of a rousing benefit. All of the old company remain with the new management, with the exception of Miss Ella Warner and Robert Frayne, who closed on the 18th. The crowded parlors who dashed down the river cop on last Friday not being satisfied, another trial was had at Harry Mendel's benefit, and resulted in Mr. Cal Baker, a Peoria amateur, carrying off the prize. So wrote our correspondent on May 24th.

THE LILLIAN RUSSELL serio-comic and character vocalist, dancers and banjoists, singing and dance artists, concluded an engagement at Grand Rapids, Mich., on May 25th, and managers desiring to engage them can address their agent, Geo. S. Thurber, of Chicago.

HARRY ENTAMY, ventriloquist, and Johnny Jennings, the original silver skate clog dancer, put in an appearance at the Theatre Comique, Cleveland, O., on May 20th. Miss Agnes Sutherland, owing to her success, was unengaged for a short time longer. M'lle Zoe takes a farewell benefit to-night. Business good. So wrote our correspondent on May 23th.

BERTHA AND IDA FOY, MILLIE IRMA AND ANDY COLLUM, were the new appearances at Fielding's Opera House, Toledo, O., during the week past. Miss Millie Irma is a young lady of pleasing appearance, possessing a pretty face and fine figure, which were displayed to good advantage in a pose act, entitled the "Voluptè." Of the Foy Sisters, Miss Bertha is a vocalist of no mean order, and Ida a very good dancer, both being speedily installed as favorites. Andy Collum is a fair comedian and general performer, and was well liked. Lula Wentworth appeared in her songs and banjo solos, receiving several well-deserved encores. In the song and dance line, Lottie Wentworth and Tommy Winnett gave creditable performances. Frank West, so long connected with this establishment as stage manager and interlocutor, takes his departure on May 28th, much to the regret of habitues. Tommy Winnett also leaves on the same date, going to Welch's Varieties, at Detroit, Mich. For May 27th we have underlined, Blanche Castle, vocalist, and Master Walter Gale, character singer. So wrote our correspondent on May 23d.

AT DRAGLE'S, St. Louis, Mo., Ling Lock, sword-swallower and fire-eater, and Yamadira, the man-serpent, make up an attraction. Of the other performances nothing much is wanting, excepting in the song and dance men, who have now entire work out the India rubber specialty.....At Allen's, the newest appearance of the week was Maude De Lisle, who opened on Thursday night, and is a favorite here. Blanche Forester, May De Forrest, Crissie Morrell and G. R. Walters have severally attained prominence. So wrote our correspondent on May 24th.

JOE ELLIOTT'S troupe opened in Au Sable, May 22d, to a crowded house. The company contains considerable talent, and is heartily received. Kate Barrown, Frank Edwards, Belle Bryan, Johnny Buckley, Ed. Judd and May Alienetta comprise the troupe, with Prof. Lucker as leader of orchestra. Belle Bryan closes on the 25th. The troupe go to Alpena for a week, opening May 27th.

AT SMITH'S OPERA HOUSE, East Saginaw, Mich., the following company is on the boards:—Billy Gray, stage manager; G. Brooks Clark, Mr. J. H. Rogers, Lew Spencer, Alf Miles, Harry Wharfe, Harry Wilkinson, Miss Emma Whiting, Victoria Ross, Clara May, Carrie Bunnell and Mlle Henriette. Billy Wade, Brown and Haman Garrison, to open May 27th. On the 31st, Miss Clara May and Miss Emma Whiting take a joint benefit. So wrote our correspondent on May 23d.

AT THE METROPOLITAN HALL, Washington, D. C., the Garnella Children, who were billed for an appeaasance on the 20th, cancelled their engagement at a late hour, and, therefore, no new faces gladened the audiences last week. Manola Arnoldi, Griffin Bateman, Emma Garrison, Victoria Howard, Billy Noonan, Bowman and Harris, and James Porter constituted the company. The St. Felix Infant Ballet Troupe and Fernande Fleury are announced for May 27th. Alice Bateman and Billy Noonan closed on the 25th, and open at Mortimer's Varieties, Philadelphia, Pa., May 27th. So wrote our correspondent on May 26th.

ACKERE'S AND MEARS, Emerson and Granger, have been engaged to overflowing every night the past week. Gus Mills, in his female delineations, has made a hit. Sam Long, comedian, and Ponncelle, pantomimist, are announced as the attraction for May 27th.

LADY VOCALISTS, danseuses and sensational stars are wanted for the Metropolitan Variety Theatre, Washington, D. C. Sarry Overtscene, manager.

AT THE THEATRE COMIQUE, Bay City, Mich., Miss Nellie Howard, jig dancer, and Ella Sheiden, a handsome fancy dancer, opened May 20th. On the 23d we had la petite Popsey, a juvenile contortionist. She did remarkably well. Harry Wilkinson opens May 27th, also Jim King, Ethiopian and Dutch comedian. Cal. Mandeville is announced for June 20th. Frank Steele and M'lle Sallie close May 25th and go to Saginaw City. Prof. A. L. Bryan, a talented musician, leads the orchestra.....Peasley and Fitzgerald were to close their engagement at Tammany Hall May 25th, but have been re-engaged for two weeks. Toney Harvey closes June 3d and goes to Saginaw. The only new face this week is Johnny Somers, Irish songs. Kittie Rowell meets with a warm reception. So wrote our correspondent on May 24th.

PROF. ROBERT NICKLE and wife opened at the Theatre Comique, Detroit, Mich., June 17th. Mrs. Nickle is to appear in an act called "Second Sight."

THE FRENCH TWIN SISTERS, juvenile song and dance performers, with character acts, having just concluded an engagement at the Washington Varieties, Providence, R. I., are prepared to accept engagements, and can be addressed as per advertisement.

AT THE OLYMPIC VARIETIES, Barney Aaron is Donnelly's star for the week, beginning May 27th.

WALLACK IN BROOKLYN, L. I.—Early in June the Wallack company are to play "London Assurance" at the Brooklyn Academy, with Lambas Mark Meddle.

MR. BRUNONE is to take a benefit at the Lyceum, Brooklyn, on June 3d.

KITTY HENDERSON and Geo. F. Moore are at present performing their double specialties at Trimble's Varieties, Pittsburgh, Pa.

THE ATHENÆUM, Keokuk, Iowa, was closed during the past week for renovation and is to re-open May 27th. The entire company performed during the past week at Fort Madison.

AT THE VARIETY THEATRE, Scranton, Pa., Belle Gordon, Annie Elmore, Lydia Webster, Eva Gould, Maggie Mairs, Dick Gorman, Frank Carlton, Prof. Campbell and Harry Robinson were the attractions during the past week.

J. S. DELANEY, comedian and character vocalist, advertises that he can be engaged.

"PARIS BEFORE THE WAR" is still the great feature at Wild's Opera House, Syracuse, N. Y. Ten ladies from Niblo's Garden are announced to appear there May 27th. The St. Clair Sisters were to leave on May 25th for St. Louis.

THE MISSES IDA MERTON AND LA BELLE PAULINE closed at the Varieties, Evansville, Ind., May 20th. The fresh appearances were Emma Devere and Sallie Eldridge.

TONY PASTOR'S traveling variety troupe is billed ahead as follows:—Scranton, Pa., May 27th; Williamsport, 28th; Altoona, 29th; Johnstown, 30th; Pittsburgh, 31st, June 1st and 3d; Steubenville, O., 4th; Newark, 5th; Columbus, 6th; Springfield, 7th, and Dayton, 8th.

CHAS. ARCHER cautions performers, through a card in another column, against infringing upon the rights of Messrs. Howard and Egbert, who are the proprietors of his sketch, "The Dolly Varden." They are also announced to produce several new acts, with Howorth's Tableaux of Erin.

THE METROPOLITAN THEATRE, St. JOSEPH, Mo., a correspondent informs us, "did an immense business during the past week. The performance was the best in the variety line ever given in the city. The theatre is a beautiful one and surpassed by none in the west. T. V. Day is lessee and manager; Claude De Haven, director of amusements. The company consists of Messrs. Gregan Gorman, Frank Jones, Johnny Pierce, Griffin and Ainsley, Jimmy Carr, Joe Purdy, Harry Spriggs, Susie Starr, Nina Dubois, Philomena, Lue Wade, Ella Martell, and Gussie Wentworth. The spectacle of the 'Slave Market' is in preparation."

FRANK JONES, the "Lively Moke," was married on the 20th of May to "Philomena," the Mexican jig dancer, both of the Metropolitan, St. Joseph, Mo.

BUSINESS AT SHELBY'S COMIQUE, Buffalo, N. Y., during the past week, has been all that could be desired. Miss Clara Butler and Mr. Frank Frayne opened on the 20th. The performance commenced with the negro act of "Turning the Tables;" songs by Miss Nagie; a Hungarian polka by the Harrison Sisters, and a banjo solo by Chas. Brown followed. Then came the burlesque of the "Lawyers Cleer," by Brown, Andrews, Reese and others. Miss Clara Butler gave "Kathleen Mavourneen" in a highly artistic manner, proving herself an accomplished vocalist. Chas. Brown then appeared in his melange of instrumental performances, acquitting himself well. Johnny Reese followed in his budget of comic songs. Miss Nagie gave a fancy dance, a la Hartford, with skill and grace. The performance terminated with the drama of "Oroloso, the Halfbreed," in which Mr. Frank Frayne occupies the central position. In the course of the piece he successfully executes the extremely hazardous feat of shooting an apple from the head of Orita. The play was finely mounted, the scenery appropriate and the performers made up to their characters. The company would not find cheap prices profitable.

OLDEN'S MUSEUM, CIRCUS AND MENAGERIE are to be exhibited at Kansas City, Mo., May 30th and 31st, and Independence, June 1st.

DAN RICE'S CIRCUS is announced to perform at Kansas City, Mo., June 12th and 13th.

G. F. BAILEY & CO.'S CIRCUS AND MENAGERIE will exhibit at Waterville, Me., June 4th; Skowhegan, 5th, and Farmington, 6th.

BILLY MANSON joined Van's Great Olympic Show at Honesdale, Pa., in the capacity of agent.

THE ROBBINS MUSEUM AND CIRCUS exhibited at Muskegan, Mich., May 18th, and went thence to Cedar Springs, Morley, Big Rapids, Stanton, St. Louis, Saginaw, and Bay City. Burr Robbins is the proprietor and manager, and Robert M. Bales general agent.

JAMES M. NIXON'S PARISIAN HIPPODROME AND CHICAGO AMPHITHEATRE is, just now, the central attraction in amusement circles in Chicago. The opening occurred on May 20th. The place was literally packed, and every night since the attendance has been very large. The front of the structure presents a neat and attractive appearance, with its numerous gas jets extending its entire length, and the elegant arch over the entrance. The interior is admirably arranged with chairs, extending from the ring to the canvas top, with a commodious promenade extending clear around. It is lighted with gas, thoroughly ventilated and will comfortably seat 2,500. Director, Jas. M. Nixon; treasurer, Geo. S. Cole, who has served in that capacity for various circuses, and is rumored to have a quarter interest in this institution; John Brennan, assistant treasurer; S. Q. Stokes, ring master; William Worrell, clown; Charles Boyce, assistant clown, and Professor Colston leader of orchestra. The company comprises the Yeddo Japanese Troupe, the Stokes Family—Katie and Ella, Burnell Rannells and sons, Signor Francis, H. Wambold, Geo. Wambold, with his trained dogs and monkeys, the Lascell brothers, Chas. Sherwood and son, W. Naylor, Chas. Seaman, Kline and Muritz. The performances thus far have been of uniform excellence and given the best of satisfaction. The several feats of the Japanese troupe, consisting of sword-juggling, ball tossing, aerial reprum, ascension of the ladder of swords, slack wire and contortion acts, were wonderful and superior to anything of a similar class ever witnessed in Chicago. The equestrian acts by Ella and Katie Stokes, posturing act by G. Wambold, and trapeze act by the Lascell brothers were among the other prominent features.....The Great Eastern Circus, Menagerie, etc., has attracted a succession of large houses during their seven days' stay here. They gave a benefit to the Orphan Asylum yesterday afternoon. The route ahead is announced as follows:—Kenosha, Wis., 23d; Milwaukee, 24th and 25th; Racine, 27th; Rockford, 28th; Freeport, 29th; Beloit, 30th; Baraboo, 31st; Madison, June 1st. So wrote our correspondent on May 23d.

CLAUDE DE HAVEN joined James Robinson's circus as newspaper writer on May 23d, having closed his engagement at the Metropolitan Theatre, St. Joseph, Mo.

RANSON'S MINSTRELS, with Tim Woodruff and Chris. Ransom as comedians, exhibited in Dayton, Ky., on the 23d.

DAN BRYANT'S MINSTRELS open for a week at Wood's Theatre, Cincinnati, beginning June 3d.

THE FAREWELL PERFORMANCES of the Emerson Minstrels at the Alhambra Theatre, San Francisco, Cal., are being nightly attended. The entertainment presented during the week was as brilliant as any heretofore given. In the first part the singing of sentimental songs, by Russell, Holdsworth, Norman, and Scott, was an attractive feature, the conclusion being a burlesque, "Emerson's Hippodrome," in which a contrast was adduced by the grotesque fun of Emerson and Fayette Welch as the clowns. In the second part Sheridan and Mack introduced their lightning changes, which were received with great applause. Emerson, in his songs and dances, was greeted warmly. In "High Jack the Healer," Fayette Welch, Ad. Ryman, and Sam Rickey were amusing, while "The Court Scene," Ryman's richest burlesque, was productive of screams of laughter, as illustrated by Sam Rickey as the judge, and Ryman and Stanley Scott as the plaintiff's lawyers, and Ryman and Stanley Scott as the defendant's counsel. This week previous to their Eastern tour, Gid. the 27th Simmons and Slocum's Minstrels begin a new weeks' engagement, wrote our correspondent on May 26th.

MORAN AND DIXEY'S MINSTRELS appeared during the week ending May 25th, at their Eleventh Street Opera House, Philadelphia, to a succession of large audiences, that being the closing week of their first season. Chas. Harrison, in the first part, sang with taste and effectiveness the ballad of "Man the Life Boat;" and Frank Moran and G. W. H. Griffin were most amusing in a burlesque sketch, "Cincinnati vs. Philadelphia." The burlesque opera of "Il Trovatore" was revived on May 20th, and played during the week. The Opera House will be redecorated and renovated during the summer vacation. Moran & Dixey's Minstrels have, so far, arranged the following as the programme of their traveling season:—May 27th, Reading; May 28th, Bethlehem; May 29th, Scranton; May 30th, Wilkesbarre; May 31st, Williamsport; June 1st, Lock Haven; June 3d, Tidioute; June 4th, Titusville, for three nights; June 7th, Oil City; June 8th, Franklin; June 10th, Pittsburgh, for one week; June 17th, Altoona; June 18th, Harrisburg; June 19th, Pottsville, and June 20th, Lancaster.

MANNING'S MINSTRELS commenced an engagement at the Holliday Street Theatre, Baltimore, Md., on May 20th, and proved to be one of the best corkological combinations that has ever visited this city. Billy Manning and W. W. Newcomb are intensely funny at the ends, and the singing of Con. Murphy, Harry Percy, J. J. Kelly and Gustave Rideaux is of a good order. McKee and Rogers, in their sensation duet, "Rebecca Jane," are inimitable. Ricardo is a good soprano singer, E. M. Hale a clever banjoist, and little Eddie can execute a good jig with the clogs. The attendance has been very fair. The troupe remains here for an indefinite period. So wrote our correspondent on May 25th.

CAL. WAGNER'S MINSTRELS are billed for Peoria, Ill., May 28th.

THE COMIQUE IRON CLAD MINSTRELS AND BRASS BAND were at Wenham, Mass., May 23d, and Denver 24th. The company includes Leon Jutras, Charles Melvin, Jr., J. E. Whitehouse, Billy Butterfield and others.

HARRY BLOODGOOD'S COMBINATION gave an excellent entertainment to a large audience at Harrington's Opera House, Providence, R. I., on May 20th.

AT THE VARIETY THEATRE, Scranton, Pa., Belle Gordon, Annie Elmore, Lydia Webster, Eva Gould, Maggie Mairs, Dick Gorman, Frank Carlton, Prof. Campbell and Harry Robinson were the attractions during the past week.

J. S. DELANEY, comedian and character vocalist, advertises that he can be engaged.

"PARIS BEFORE THE WAR" is still the great feature at Wild's Opera House, Syracuse, N. Y. Ten ladies from Niblo's Garden are announced to appear there May 27th. The St. Clair Sisters were to leave on May 25th for St. Louis.

THE MISSES IDA MERTON AND LA BELLE PAULINE closed at the Varieties, Evansville, Ind., May 20th. The fresh appearances were Emma Devere and Sallie Eldridge.

TONY PASTOR'S traveling variety troupe is billed ahead as follows:—Scranton, Pa., May 27th; Williamsport, 28th; Altoona, 29th; Johnstown, 30th; Pittsburgh, 31st, June 1st and 3d; Steubenville, O., 4th; Newark, 5th; Columbus, 6th; Springfield, 7th, and Dayton, 8th.

CHAS. ARCHER, cautions performers, through a card in another column, against infringing upon the rights of Messrs. Howard and Egbert, who are the proprietors of his sketch, "The Dolly Varden." They are also announced to produce several new acts, with Howorth's Tableaux of Erin.

THE METROPOLITAN THEATRE, St. JOSEPH, Mo., a correspondent informs us, "did an immense business during the past week. The performance was the best in the variety line ever given in the city. The theatre is a beautiful one and surpassed by none in the west. T. V. Day is lessee and manager; Claude De Haven, director of amusements. The company consists of Messrs. Gregan Gorman, Frank Jones, Johnny Pierce, Griffin and Ainsley, Jimmy Carr, Joe Purdy, Harry Spriggs, Susie Starr, Nina Dubois, Philomena, Lue Wade, Ella Martell, and Gussie Wentworth. The spectacle of the 'Slave Market' is in preparation."

FRANK JONES, the "Lively Moke," was married on the 20th of May to "Philomena," the Mexican jig dancer, both of the Metropolitan, St. Joseph, Mo.

BUSINESS AT SHELBY'S COMIQUE, Buffalo, N. Y., during the past week, has been all that could be desired. Miss Clara Butler and Mr. Frank Frayne opened on the 20th. The performance commenced with the negro act of "Turning the Tables;" songs by Miss Nagie; a Hungarian polka by the Harrison Sisters, and a banjo solo by Chas. Brown followed. Then came the burlesque of the "Lawyers Cleer," by Brown, Andrews, Reese and others. Miss Clara Butler gave "Kathleen Mavourneen" in a highly artistic manner, proving herself an accomplished vocalist. Chas. Brown then appeared in his melange of instrumental performances, acquitting himself well. Johnny Reese followed in his budget of comic songs. Miss Nagie gave a fancy dance, a la Hartford, with skill and grace. The performance terminated with the drama of "Oroloso, the Halfbreed," in which Mr. Frank Frayne occupies the central position. In the course of the piece he successfully executes the extremely hazardous feat of shooting an apple from the head of Orita. The play was finely mounted, the scenery appropriate and the performers made up to their characters. The company would not find cheap prices profitable.

OLDEN'S MUSEUM, CIRCUS AND MENAGERIE are to be exhibited at Kansas City, Mo., May 30th and 31st, and Independence, June 1st.

DAN RICE'S CIRCUS is announced to perform at Kansas City, Mo., June 12th and 13th.

G. F. BAILEY & CO.'S CIRCUS AND MENAGERIE will exhibit at Waterville, Me., June 4th; Skowhegan, 5th, and Farmington, 6th.

BILLY MANSON joined Van's Great Olympic Show at Honesdale, Pa., in the capacity of agent.

THE ROBBINS MUSEUM AND CIRCUS exhibited at Muskegan, Mich., May 18th, and went thence to Cedar Springs, Morley, Big Rapids, Stanton, St. Louis, Saginaw, and Bay City. Burr Robbins is the proprietor and manager, and Robert M. Bales general agent.

JAMES M. NIXON'S PARISIAN HIPPODROME AND CHICAGO AMPHITHEATRE is, just now, the central attraction in amusement circles in Chicago. The opening occurred on May 20th. The place was literally packed, and every night since the attendance has been very large. The front of the structure presents a neat and attractive appearance, with its numerous gas jets extending its entire length, and the elegant arch over the entrance. The interior is admirably arranged with chairs, extending from the ring to the canvas top, with a commodious promenade extending clear around. It is lighted with gas, thoroughly ventilated and will comfortably seat 2,500. Director, Jas. M. Nixon; treasurer, Geo. S. Cole, who has served in that capacity for various circuses, and is rumored to have a quarter interest in this institution; John Brennan, assistant treasurer; S. Q. Stokes, ring master; William Worrell, clown; Charles Boyce, assistant clown, and Professor Colston leader of orchestra. The company comprises the Yeddo Japanese Troupe, the Stokes Family—Katie and Ella, Burnell Rannells and sons, Signor Francis, H. Wambold, Geo. Wambold, with his trained dogs and monkeys, the Lascell brothers, Chas. Sherwood and son, W. Naylor, Chas. Seaman, Kline and Muritz. The performances thus far have been of uniform excellence and given the best of satisfaction. The several feats of the Japanese troupe, consisting of sword-juggling, ball tossing, aerial reprum, ascension of the ladder of swords, slack wire and contortion acts, were wonderful and superior to anything of a similar class ever witnessed in Chicago. The equestrian acts by Ella and Katie Stokes, posturing act by G. Wambold, and trapeze act by the Lascell brothers were among the other prominent features.....The Great Eastern Circus, Menagerie, etc., has attracted a succession of large houses during their seven days' stay here. They gave a benefit to the Orphan Asylum yesterday afternoon. The route ahead is announced as follows:—Kenosha, Wis., 23d; Milwaukee, 24th and 25th; Racine, 27th; Rockford, 28th; Freeport, 29th; Beloit, 30th; Baraboo, 31st; Madison, June 1st. So wrote our correspondent on May 23d.

CLAUDE DE HAVEN joined James Robinson's circus as newspaper writer on May 23d, having closed his engagement at the Metropolitan Theatre, St. Joseph, Mo.

Negro Minstrelsy.

MESSRS. DUPREZ AND BENEDICT, the well known minstrel managers, are about organizing a first-class minstrel company for a four months' summer tour through the states, consisting of forty-seven members, among whom are the following artists:—Lew Benedict, Geo. H. Edwards, James T. Gulick, Ernest Linden, Prof. W. W. Hermann, Joseph Fox, Wm. Ward, Frank Dumont, Dunk H. Smith, Geo. B. Harcourt, Henry H. Morris, Geo. J. Lennox, Chas. Otto and C. C. Palmer. It is stated that the cost of the enterprise for rent, salaries, and traveling expenses will amount to forty-two thousand dollars, and during the tour the troupe will appear at leading cites in eastern, western and southern sections of the states, theatres and halls in which have already been engaged, as will be seen by a list published among the advertisements. Mr. Dupres states that dates and other particulars will be given in future announcements.

AT ARLINGTON, COTTON AND KEMBLE'S MINSTRELS, Chicago, Ill., the attendance has been somewhat affected by the strong counter attraction the past week. "Among the most pleasant features of the first part," says our correspondent, "are the ballads 'Wont You Tell Me Why, Robin' 'The Dear Little Shamrock' and 'A Home By the Sea,' sung respectively by J. R. Surridge, Wm. Dwyer and E. M. Kane, in a really fine manner. Cotton and Arlington's comic songs, 'Larry Magee' and 'The Grand Duke's Ball,' are usually encored, and, of course, well sung. The finale, 'Scenes at the Circus,' is laughably enacted by Kemble, Cotton and Arlington; Chas. Walters' songs and dances, vocal quartet by Surridge, Dwyer, Kane and Kemble; 'Banglong Brothers,' by Arlington and Price; Frank Kent's character songs; by Ben Cotton's great act, 'Turn Him Out;' cornet solo, by Frank Bowles; Dutch Morris in his excellent personation of the Dutch Justice in the 'Chicago Police Court,' and the closing sketch of 'Where's Anthony?' are the amusing features of the second part. Johnson and Powers are underlined for the 27th.

DUPREZ AND BENEDICT'S MINSTRELS open at Wood's Theatre, Cincinnati, O., for one week, commencing May 27th.....The Bryant, Manning, Tony Pastor, and Skiff and Gaylord parties, have also engaged the same theatre for a week each.....Billy Emerson's Minstrels have secured Pike's Opera House, Cincinnati, for one week, commencing July 15.

CARNCROSS AND DIXEY'S MINSTRELS are billed to perform at Titusville, Pa., June 3d and 4th.

BARNUM'S MUSEUM, CIRCUS AND MENAGERIE exhibits at Pittsburgh, Pa., on May 30th, 31st and June 1st; Wheeling, W. Va., 3d; Steubenville, O., 4th; Newcastle, Pa., 5th; Sharon, 6th; Erie, 7th; Corry, 8th, and Jamestown, N. Y., 10th.

LENT'S NEW YORK CIRCUS gives performances only one day in Detroit, Mich., on June 3d.

MR. R. MIGGINS, of John Robinson's Circus, has been called to Detroit by the sudden death of his sister. His many friends sympathize with him in his bereavement.

STOKES AND MURRAY'S CIRCUS performed at Portland, Me., May 23d.

HENRY SPAULDING, the

RATES OF ADVERTISING.

THE THEATRICAL, or other Advertisements to be sent under the head of Amusements, fifteen cents per line for each and every insertion.
THE MISCELLANEOUS AND BUSINESS ADVERTISEMENTS, ten cents per line for each and every insertion.
NO NOTICES to be interspersed in our News Department, each at extreme rates than other papers, etc., thirty cents per line, the same notice not to be inserted more than once.
CASH IN ADVANCE.—Advertisements to be paid for at the time of insertion.
NO GENERAL DEDUCTION from these rates will be made for Advertisements when paid for three months or longer in advance.
ALL BUSINESS LETTERS or communications must be addressed to the undersigned,
FRANK QUEEN,
Editor and Proprietor New York CLIPPER,
Corner Centre and Leonard streets, New York.

AMUSEMENTS.

GREENLAW'S OPERA HOUSE,
MEMPHIS, TENN.,
will be opened for the Fall and Winter season, in connection with DE BAR'S OPERA HOUSE,
ST. LOUIS, MO.
and
ST. CHARLES THEATRE,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.
The seating capacity of the Theatre is eighteen hundred dollars, with plenty of standing room, being double the amount of any other place of amusement in the city. Furnished with easy arm chairs and heated with steam. The location is in the centre of the city and within about one square of all the hotels. The building is 120 feet wide and will undergo the following alterations and improvements during the summer:—The auditorium will be beautified and frescoed. The stage will be elevated, widened and made deep enough to produce all the modern and sensational pieces of the day, and furnished with new scenery, properties, and all appointments of a first class Theatre. All stars and combinations traveling south or west will meet with liberal terms; also, Stock Company required. Apply to JOHN A. STEVENS, Sole Lessee and Manager.
CANNING & LOWELL'S AGENCY,
7-4t 678 Broadway, N. Y.

VARIETIES THEATRE,
NEW ORLEANS,
LAWRENCE BARRETT,
SOLE LESSEE.
APPLICATIONS FOR POSITIONS
FOR THE SEASON 1872-3
CAN BE MADE TO THE UNDERSIGNED,
UNTIL JUNE 15th, AT NEW ORLEANS.
After that date to
NEW YORK HOTEL, NEW YORK.
STARS and COMBINATIONS are invited to communicate with the undersigned. Silence a negative. LORAINE ROGERS, 9-9t Business Manager.

ISABELLA PHILLIPS, FIRST
OLD WOMEN and HEAVIES, of the New Pittsburgh Opera House, at liberty for summer and winter. Engagements from June 1st. Address to date as above, Pittsburgh, Pa. 9-5t*

HALL TO LEASE,
THE FINEST HALL
IN THE CITY OF TAUNTON.
In the new Brick Building on the LEONARD ESTATE, situated on Main street. Said Hall, which will seat one thousand, is not quite finished, and will be fitted up to suit the Lessee, if applied for soon. Inquire of E. T. JACKSON, 9-4t Bristol County Bank Building, Taunton, Mass.

VALENTINE VOX
RESUSCITATED BY
E. D. DAVIES,
PREMIER VENTRILOQUIST OF THE WORLD.
Owing to the great success of E. D. Davies' celebrated entertainment, he is engaged for two more weeks at the National Theatre, Cincinnati. Opinions of press:—At the National Theatre, that unapproachable ventriloquist, E. D. Davies, forms the chief feature of the entertainment, and meets with an enthusiastic reception at each appearance.—Cincinnati Times, May 16th, 1872. 9-1t

MANAGERS
PLEASE ADDRESS MISS JEAN HOSMER,
9-4t* No. 20 Tenth street, Buffalo, N. Y.

CLAUDE DE HAVEN,
METROPOLITAN THEATRE,
9-1t* ST. JOSEPH, MO.

AYERS & CO.,
SHOW PAINTERS,
600 BROADWAY, N. Y.
SCENERY, SIGNS AND PANORAMAS,
9-5t* EXECUTED WITH DISPATCH.

A CARD.
Performers are cautioned against any infringement of our new and original double sketch, entitled
THE DOLLY VARDEN,
now being performed with great success through Western Pennsylvania, by Messrs. HOWARD AND EGBERT, now with HOWORTH'S COMBINATION AND TABLEAUX OF ERIN.
Also will be produced the following new and startling specialties originated by Messrs. Howard and Egbert, viz.:—The Fisherman's Daughter, Harney's Return, The Bologna Sausage Merchant, The Cauliflower's Bloom, Leetie Bunch of Sourkraut and Leetie Footsteps. Any infringement of these acts will be dealt with accordingly by their author. [9-1t*] CHAS. ARCHER.

TO RENT,
FOR THE SUMMER SEASON,
COMMENCING MONDAY, JUNE 3d,
MORAN AND DIXEY'S
ELEVENTH ST. OPERA HOUSE,
PHILADELPHIA.
THE MOST POPULAR FAMILY RESORT IN THE CITY.
RECENTLY RE-MODELLED, ENLARGED AND BEAUTIFIED,
CONTAINING A FULL STOCK
OF
SCENERY.
RESPONSIBLE MANAGERS of first class entertainments desirous of securing the above popular place of amusement for one or more weeks, will please address
ON REASONABLE TERMS.
J. E. JACKSON,
8-4t Ledger Job Office, Philadelphia.

ACKER'S ARCADE GARDEN,
OPPOSITE THE GRISWOLD OPERA HOUSE,
13 Third street, and 280 River street, Troy, N. Y.
JACOB ACKER.....PROPRIETOR
Open during all the Summer months. Variety Talent wanted at all times. Address as above. Salary must be small, but sure.
GUS. MILLS,
8-13t Stage Manager.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
BIRMINGHAM VARIETIES.
Open the year round. Engagements can always be had by first class talent. Wanted immediately, three Actresses. All letters must be addressed as below. Address as above.
8-13t HARRIE JACOBS & CO., Birmingham Varieties.

DOLLY VARDEN.
PASTOR.
THE GIRL WITH THE DOLLY VARDEN,
BILLY PASTOR'S
LATEST NEW COMIC SONG.
WRITTEN BY JOHN F. POOLE.
THE GREATEST HIT EVER MADE BY A COMIC SONG.
MS. copies may be had for $2 by addressing
BILLY PASTOR,
8-2t Tony Pastor's Opera House, N. Y.

STRAUSS' VALSES,
(NEW EDITION,)
BEAUTIFULLY GOT UP ON TONED PAPER, AND FROM ENGRAVED PLATES
Full Orchestra.....$1.25
Small do.....1.00
Send for circulars to T. ROSENSTEIN,
8-4t* 384 Bowery, New York.

FOR RENT—TRIMBLE OPERA HOUSE, ALBANY, with all its splendid stock of Scenery, Wardrobe, Properties, Furniture, Carpets, Calcium Lights, etc., for three or five years, from July 1st, 1872. Apply to or address
7-3t COL. T. ALLSTON BROWN or LUCIEN BARNES.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC,
CHICAGO, ILL.
FALL AND WINTER SEASON COMMENCES SEPT. 2d.
LADIES AND GENTLEMEN of acknowledged ability and reputation, wishing engagements, will please address
CHAS. GARDNER, Sole Manager.
Managers desirous of negotiating will please address Boston Museum, Boston, Mass. 7-4t*

CHAS. B. GRISTE,
ADVANCE AND BUSINESS AGENT.
Is at liberty to engage with a first class company or star. Address as above, care A. M. LUNT, 81 Water street, Boston, Mass. 7-1t

LITTLE NELL,
THE CALIFORNIA DIAMOND, can be addressed care W. S. BOWERS, 45 West Madison street, Chicago, Ill. 8-1t*

PANTOMIME.
THE GREAT ORIGINAL
MARTINETTI-RAVEL
PANTOMIME,
BALLET
AND GYMNASTIC TROUPE
OF
FRENCH ARTISTS,
NOW IN THEIR SECOND (SUCCESSFUL) WEEK'S ENGAGEMENT AT
DE BAR'S OPERA HOUSE, ST. LOUIS,
AFTER A MOST TRIUMPHANT TOUR
OF THE FOLLOWING SOUTHERN CITIES:—
CHARLESTON, S. C.,
SAVANNAH, GA.,
COLUMBIA, S. C.,
ATLANTA, GA.,
MONTGOMERY, ALA.
AT THE ST. CHARLES THEATRE, NEW ORLEANS,
FOR TWO WEEKS,
COMMENCING APRIL 29TH,
WHERE THE LARGEST HOUSES
(THAN ANY OTHER PLACE OF AMUSEMENT IN THE CITY), GREETED THEIR OLD FRIENDS.
THE NEW PANTOMIME OF PAT-A-CAKE,
WITH THE GREAT JULIAN AS CLOWN, IS THE ATTRACTIVE CARD.
OTHER NEW PANTOMIMES
IN PREPARATION FOR THE FALL AND WINTER CAMPAIGN.
ENTERTAINMENT COMPLETE.
TIME FILLED TO PITTSBURGH, JUNE 29TH.
ADDRESS
G. T. SHAW, Business Manager,
9-1t* Care of Ledger Job Office, Philadelphia, Pa.

MLLE. GERALDINE
AND THE ORIGINAL
GEORCE LEOPOLD will return from England next week with one of the Most Startling Novelties ever introduced to the public.
In addition to their brilliant Trapeze Performances,
MLLE. GERALDINE
WILL, AT ONE BOUND,
SPRING TWENTY FEET
IN THE AIR.
Proprietors and Managers wishing to negotiate for this extraordinary performance will please address COL. BROWN, Agent, or GEO. LEOPOLD, care CLIPPER office. No danger—a strong net used. 8-3t*

SHIRTS.
W. H. HARRIS,
79 West Madison, St. CHICAGO.
ALSO
MEN'S FINE FURNISHING GOODS.
SHOWMEN AND ALL OTHERS
will find it to their interest, when visiting Chicago, to give us a call. Six New York Mills' dress shirts, made to measure for $16.50, with the very finest linen. Six Wamsutta Shirts for $15. Six Masonville Shirts for $12. To gentlemen residing outside of Chicago a good fit will be guaranteed by sending the following measurement, in inches:—Size of collar worn, breast measure from centre of shoulder along arm to knuckle of small finger; around chest; waist and wrist; state number of plaits; if for studs, spirals or buttons; style of cuff, and if open back or front.
THE MONEY CAN BE PAID TO EXPRESS CO. 8-4t*

A STEAMBOAT, SUITABLE for conveying a SMALL COMPANY OF PERFORMERS, or a
PANORAMA ON THE WESTERN AND SOUTHERN WATERS
CAN BE HIRED ON FAIR TERMS.
For further particulars, inquire of O. GRAHAM,
8-2t* Peru, Ill.

HERR SCHULZE,
THE MAN WITH 100 FACES IS COMING.
Many may try to imitate his apparatus, etc.; but they cannot imitate his facial expressions and clever press-work which costs a lifetime to study and practice. Address 3 Wigmore street, London, Eng. 8-1t

WASHINGTON H. DONALDSON,
THE ÆRONAUT OF THE PERIOD,
WHO PERFORMS
UPON A SINGLE TRAPEZE
2½ MILES HIGH,
and can only be seen by a powerful glass. Has traveled over 100 miles in 3 hours without a basket, trapeze only. Open for engagements. Fourth of July open also.
Address letters to TERMS REASONABLE.
COLUMBUS, OHIO.
8-2t* GEORGE D. HARRIS, Business Manager.

NOTICE.
To Managers of Minstrels or Variety Halls. All persons are warned against using or allowing to be used in their troupes or halls, the new sensation entitled
THE ILLUMINATED INFERNAL MACHINE, a novel and effective finish for negro acts, &c., invented by HENRY DUMONT,
now used by Dupree & Benedict's Minstrels only. Any person infringing on the above Patent and Copyright, will be strictly dealt with according to law.
CHAS. B. DUPREE,
8-3t Manager Dupree & Benedict's Minstrels.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC,
OMAHA, NEB.,
FOR RENT BY DAY OR WEEK.
SEATS 1,000.
WIDE ENTRANCE. BEST IN THE CITY. IT IS WELL SUPPLIED WITH SCENERY. FOR TERMS ADDRESS
7-4t* ED. H. PARKER, AGENT.

BOGAN'S

GREAT PROFESSIONAL SILVER RIM AND ROSEWOOD BANJOS, celebrated for their loud, sharp and brilliant tone, ranging in price as follows:—Silver rim, from $15 to $75 each; rosewood, from $10 to $20 each; plain banjos, from $8 to $15 each. Professional Tambourines, Bones and all kinds of Musical Instruments sent to any address, C. O. D. Send stamp for catalogue and price list. A deposit must accompany all orders. N. B.—Banjo, Song and Dance, Jig and Clog Dancing taught. Pupils fitted for the stage. On receipt of $1 I will send two written lessons on the Banjo or Dancing, with full directions for practice. Address JOHN J. BOGAN, 9-3t* Box 1,344, Boston, Mass.

SAM SHARPLEY'S,
553 BROADWAY.
The most powerful company extant, including NELSE SEYMOUR, CHAS. WHITE, SAM SHARPLEY, and Thirty Popular Performers. Novel first part scene. Singers and musicians in full dress with white faces. Entirely new programme.
HARRY MACARTHY'S NEW METAMORPHOSIS.
Matinee THURSDAY, at 2.30 P. M.
Admission, 50c.; Reserved, 75c.; Gallery, 25c. 7-1t

GLORIOUS SUCCESS OF THE
GREAT WESTERN STAR CIRCUIT.
"Westward the Course of Empire Takes its Way."
KANSAS CITY, LEAVENWORTH, ST. JOSEPH AND OMAHA.
JOHN A. STEVENS.....SOLE PROPRIETOR AND MANAGER
TWO NEW THEATRES.
With pleasure the Management announces that the magnificent OPERA HOUSE being erected, at the cost of $150,000, by MILTON TOOTLES, Esq., at ST. JOSEPH, will be added to the WESTERN STAR CIRCUIT. The management people will equal in beauty any Theatre in the United States; will be complete in every particular, with a seating capacity for FIFTEEN HUNDRED.
THE OPERA HOUSE, LEAVENWORTH, KANSAS, will be renovated. NEW SCENERY, NEW CURTAIN, NEW CHAIRS, newly frescoed and an ENLARGED SEATING CAPACITY. Coates' new and magnificent OPERA HOUSE, KANSAS CITY, needs no comment. It is known to the Dramatic World as one of the largest and most complete Theatres in the country.
OMAHA THEATRE will be newly REPAINTED and furnished with an ENLARGED SEATING CAPACITY.
WANTED—A FULL DRAMATIC COMPANY for the coming season. Only Ladies and Gentlemen of undoubted talent and respectability need apply.
FIRST CLASS STARS TREATED WITH ON LIBERAL TERMS.
Combinations traveling over this Circuit will receive better terms than can be afforded them under any management in the West. Stars and Combinations visiting California will do well to communicate immediately. Until further notice, address
JOHN A. STEVENS, Proprietor and Manager,
7-4t*2t 23 North Gay st., Baltimore, Md.

SEAVEY'S NEW STYLE
MORDANTED SCENERY.—Patent applied for; can be folded without injury; does not dust or rub off. Just the thing for traveling companies. In use and recommended by the Ainy Stone Troupe and others.
For sale, a large stock of new and second-hand scenery and machinery, suitable for large Theatres, Halls or Traveling Companies. LAFAYETTE W. SEAVEY,
6-1t 624 Broadway, N. Y.

MADAME IVAN C. MICHELS, of the London and New York theatres, prepares ladies and gentlemen for the stage. Engagements when completed. Apply, 125 Fourth Avenue, N. Y. 8-2t*

THEATRICAL MATERIALS,

IMPORTERS AND MANUFACTURERS,
SHANNON, MILLER & CRANE,
NO. 6 WARREN LANE, N. Y.
OUR ARTISTS, IN SHAPES AND THEATRICAL HOSIERY, CANNOT BE SURPASSED.
A PERFECT FIT
GUARANTEED.
SPANGLES, FRINGES, LACES,
GIMPS, TIGHTS, PADDINGS,
HATS, WIGS, SHOES,
JEWELRY, STARS,
TASSELS, FLAGS,
BANNERS, ETC.,
for Theatres, Circuses, Costumers, Gymnasiums, Tableaux, Private Theatricals and Fancy Dresses.
MILITARY REGALIA
AND SOCIETY GOODS.
Sent C. O. D. Send for Illustrated Catalogue.
CLOWN AND ANIMAL SUITS,
CLOGS,
GIRAFFE HEADS,
PAPIER MACHE WORK,
EVERY VARIETY.
BOXING GLOVES, &c.
1-13t* PREPARED BURNT CORK, &c.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE,
corner Eighth avenue and Twenty-third street,
TO RENT
by the Week or Month. For full terms and particulars, apply to JOHN F. COLE, Lessee,
5-tf or COL. T. ALLSTON BROWN.

BRYANT'S
OPERA HOUSE,
23d STREET,
BETWEEN 6TH AND 7TH AVENUES, NEAR BOOTH'S THEATRE, TO LET,
FOR THE
SUMMER SEASON,
FOR ANY RESPECTABLE ENTERTAINMENT.
Apply to J. SIMPSON,
5-tf At the Box Office.

GIRARD HOUSE,
ST. LOUIS, MO.,
CORNER BROADWAY AND BIDDLE STREETS.
BALDWIN & BATTLES.....Proprietors.
Formerly of Everett House, Chicago.
THE GIRARD HOUSE
is first class in all its appointments, is heated by steam, has an elevator, and contains 180 large, airy rooms, neatly and elegantly furnished.
It is centrally located, convenient to all places of amusement, and is HEAD-QUARTERS for Professionals, to whom special rates will be given. Transient rates
ONLY $2 A DAY.
BYRON A. BALDWIN. [3-13t*] ASA BATTLES.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.
ACADEMY OF MUSIC.
New and just opened; seats 1,400; opera chairs; heated by steam; lighted by gas; scenery by "Halley," 12 sets, 4 traps and set pieces; stage by D. Pratt. Population, 25,000. The finest house west of NEW YORK.
For rent by the night or on sharing terms.
1-9t* Address J. HODGES.

FRESH LAGER BEER
CAN ALWAYS BE FOUND AT
HERMAN GROBE'S, NO. 74 PRINCE STREET, N. Y.
The favorite resort of the Theatrical Profession.
Middle of block, first street below Metropolitan Hotel. 1-11t*

BENEVOLENT PROTECTIVE ORDER OF ELKS.
SPECIAL NOTICE.—On and after Sunday evening, April 28th, the communications of this Lodge will be held in the commodious room at 594 Broadway. All communications to be addressed to R. S. MARTIN, Secretary, pro tem.,
2-13t* 74 Nassau st., N. Y.

VARIETY THEATRE,
SCRANTON, PA.
NOVELTY ARTISTS OF ABILITY
address the manager with lowest terms. Consider silence as a negative for the time, but pleased to hear from parties again. Exorbitant figures cannot possibly be entertained. Performers playing at the above Theatre can also fill in time at the Theatre Comique, Wilkesbarre, Pa., Jake Berry, Proprietor, and save large lumps and railroad fares, the distance between the two places being only 16 miles. Wanted, continually, Ladies for the Female Minstrels, whose only requirements should be an attractive and youthful appearance. WM. B. CAVANAGH, 5-13t* Lessee and Manager.

GERMAN ODD FELLOWS'
HALL, EAST BIRMINGHAM, ALLEGHENY COUNTY, PA., has just been fitted up with a full set of Scenery on Flats, 2 Dressing-rooms, a Large Stage, 30x50 feet, Curtains, Gas, Water, &c.; Hall 72x100 feet, with Ceiling 24 feet high, and Seats on First Floor 800, and Galleries 500.
Suitable for all purposes. Address
CH. F. GEAFKEY,
1-32t* Box 83, Buchanan P. O., Pa.

HOWE & CO.'S
RESTAURANT AND SAMPLE ROOM,
89 DEARBORN STREET, CHICAGO, ILL.
The proprietors of this THE SHOWMAN'S FAVORITE RESORT, are old pioneers in the show business, and thoroughly understand the wants of the fraternity.
Showmen visiting the city drop in and see us, and we will make your stay both profitable and pleasant. The choicest Liquors and segars grace the bar at all times. N. Y. CLIPPER kept on file.
T. J. HOWE,
1-9t* J. D. LONG, } Proprietors.

FOR SALE.
A SPLENDID BLACK BEAR,
three years old, weighs over two hundred pounds. Can be handled by any one. For price, etc. write to CHAS. S. MATHEWS, 1-tf Abbott House, Titusville Pa.

TERRE HAUTE, IND.
DOWLING HALL
will seat 1,200. It has TWENTY CHANGES OF SCENERY, four dressing rooms, stage 80x45 feet, seated with chairs (numbered), and with perfect heating and ventilation. Rent, $20 per night, city license, etc., included. Address "Proprietor Dowling Hall, Terre Haute, Ind." 5-7t*

TO CIRCUS AND SIDE SHOW
MANAGERS.
JAMES MARTIN & SON,
manufacturers of Circus and Show Canvases, Bunting, Flags, &c., 114 Commercial street, Boston.
PRICE LIST SENT FREE. 1-11t*

SMITH'S OPERA HOUSE,
PLYMOUTH, PA.
One of the largest and best audience rooms in the State, with scenery, &c. Will seat comfortably 1,200 persons. A good show town; population over 9,000. Will be rented on reasonable terms.
Apply to J. B. SMITH & SON, Box 155,
1-10t* Plymouth, Pa.

HARRY HILL'S
VARIETY AND THEATRICAL SHOW AND BALL ROOM,
open every night, with a first class entertainment. 1-tf

RED AND GREEN FIRES
FOR THEATRICALS AND ILLUMINATIONS.
Send stamp for price list. JOSEPH F. BROWN & CO.,
1-10t* 203 Washington street, Boston.

HENRY C. TRYON,
Late Scenic Artist, Woods' Museum, Chicago, is prepared to paint Scenes and Drops. Terms reasonable. Address
3-13t* 128 West Randolph street, Chicago, Ill.

ST. CHARLES THEATRE,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.
CONNECTED WITH
GREENLAW'S OPERA HOUSE,
MEMPHIS, TENN.,
AND
DE BAR'S OPERA HOUSE,
ST. LOUIS, MO.
IN THIS THEATRE
THE PIT HAS BEEN REMOVED,
MAKING AN INCLOSED PARQUET,
Containing 400 Arm Chairs, with the Dress Circle seating jointly 900 people. There is also a large second tier and gallery. All Stars wishing to play in the above Theatres will meet with liberal terms. Address B. DE BAR, St. Louis, Mo., up to 1st June, after that date to COL. ALLSTON BROWN, Agent, New York.
The ST. LOUIS THEATRE can be rented by the night or week, or play on shares, from the middle of May until the middle of August. [3-10t*] Address GEO. J. JONES, St. Louis, Mo.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC,
CLEVELAND, O.
This, the only Theatre in Cleveland, can be rented for all first class Entertainments from June to September.
3-tf Address JOHN ELLSLER.

NEW PITTSBURGH OPERA HOUSE, PITTSBURGH, PA.
This large and magnificent Theatre can be rented by the night or week, from the 1st of June to the 1st of September, to all first-class Entertainments, Combinations, Troupes, Italians, Concerts, &c., &c. Apply to ELLSLER & GOTTHOLD, Lessees. 5-tf

SOUTH ADAMS, MASS.
COLLINS HALL,
new first-class stage, 12x27, foot-lights, gas, seats 600. Growing manufacturers' town, 5,000 inhabitants; one best for Concerts, Lectures, Exhibitions, Western part of State. Terms reasonable. 6-10t* Address, ISAAC COLLINS.

MECHANICS' HALL,
BLOOMSBURGH, COLUMBIA CO., PENN.
With a good Organ in it. TO LET for Concerts, Minstrels, Dramatic entertainments, &c. Will hold six hundred persons.
Address R. H. RINGLER, Box 134. 5-7t*

MISS NINA DUBOIS,
LEADING LADY AND BALLADIST,
ALSO
SENORITA PHILOMENA LONG,
LEADING ARTIST.
COMMENCED AN ENGAGEMENT
AT THE METROPOLITAN THEATRE,
ST. JOSEPH, MO., ON MAY 6th, 1872. 8-4t*

THEM CARROLLS,
R. M. AND SONS,
EDDIE, BENNIE AND LITTLE DICK,
THE DUTCH, IRISH AND NEGRO SPECIALISTS.
Open HOWARD ATHENÆUM, BOSTON, MASS., MAY 13th,
FOR TWO WEEKS.
Address R. M. CARROLL. 7-tf

LIBRARY HALL,
MORRISON, WHITESIDE CO., ILL.,
To Let for Concerts, Minstrels, Dramatic Entertainments, &c. On line of Chicago, North Western Railroad to Omaha. Will seat 700. Rent, $10 per night. Population, 3,000. Stage, 20 by 40.
6-26t* Address JOHN M. CORLEIGH.

THE STAR COMBINATION OF THE WALNUT STREET THEATRE, PHILADELPHIA, composed of all the leading members, viz.:—
MISS ANNIE GRAHAM, MRS. CHAS. WALCOT,
MRS. W. CHAPMAN, MISS ROSE WOOD,
CHAS. WALCOT, JOHN W. MORRISON
JAMES TAYLOR, ROLAND REED,
W. H. BAILEY,
R. A. EBERLE, JARRED,
W. A. CHAPMAN,
Time filled to June 17th. Managers having dates after that time please address their only authorized agent,
BUSINESS MANAGER AND ONLY AUTHORIZED AGENT,
4-8t N. W. corner of Filbert and 11th sts., Philadelphia, Pa.

METROPOLITAN THEATRE,
ST. JOSEPH, MO.
HARRY SPRIGGS.....LESSEE AND MANAGER
CLAUDE DE HAVEN.....STAGE MANAGER
The largest and most elegant Theatre in the west. Sixteen private boxes, 600 arm chairs. Admission 75 cents. Reserved places from $1 to $4, owing to location. Hundreds of people turned away nightly. TALENT WANTED AT ONCE. First-class performers can always get an opening. To eastern people this is a splendid opportunity of taking the west by storm. Address THE MANAGER, Metropolitan Theatre, St. Joseph, Mo. 8-3t*

CAPT. HARRY ANSLEY,
BILL POSTER AND DISTRIBUTOR, Staten Island, N. Y. I have my own Boards and Fences. Orders by mail, through the Hampden Post Office, will receive prompt attention. 5-4t*

Tights, Shirts, Trunks, Caps,
HARLEQUIN AND CLOWN SUITS,
LONG STOCKINGS, ETC.
ALWAYS READY AND SENT C. O. D.
UNION ADAMS & CO.
637 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. 6-tf

THE GREAT SUCCESSFUL
JOHNNY THOMPSON.

For OPEN DATES address 83 Myrtle avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y. 9-tf

THEATRICAL
SCENERY
Panoramas, Banners, Signs and Show Work of all kinds painted by the American Art Association, 599 Broadway, New York. JOHN BANVARD, JR., Sec. 1-13t*

CHICAGO FIRE.
NEW WESTERN THEATRICAL STORE,
No. 983 STATE STREET,
LATE
129 Dearborn street, Chicago, Ill.
GEORGE S. THURBER.
E. FRANCK, Wig Maker, WITH ME.
Having been entirely burned out, and just received a fresh stock of Theatrical, Military, Regalia, Society, Church and Costumers' Trimmings, Laces, Spangles, Shoes, Clogs, Tights, Symmetries Plumes, Wigs, Fringes, Laces, Stars, Tassels, Masks and everything required by the trade or profession, sent C. O. D. to all parts of the United States. 9-20t

UNITED STATES CONFECTION CO.
78 WARREN STREET, NEW YORK, MANUFACTURE
PURE AMERICAN CANDIES, IN SEALED PACKAGES,
FOR CIRCUSES, SHOWS, RAILROAD, STEAMBOAT
AND HOLIDAY SALES.
THEY ALSO PUT UP THE BEST PRIZE PACKAGES
THAT ARE MADE IN
THIS COUNTRY. 1-9t*

SAUNDERS' HALL,
LAWRENCE, MASS.
The handsomest and best lighted hall in New England. Heated with steam. Seats 800. Everything new. Large stage, with foot-lights and good dressing rooms. Terms reasonable. Address
2-13t* CALEB SAUNDERS.

FOX'S NEW AMERICAN THEATRE,
Chestnut street above Tenth, Philadelphia.
ROBERT FOX.....Sole Proprietor and Manager
JAMES PILGRIM.....Stage Manager
JOHN UNDERHILL.....Treasurer
NO CLOSING FOR REPAIRS.
THE STAR VARIETY THEATRE OF AMERICA.
OPEN "ALL THE YEAR ROUND."
With the most complete Variety Organization ever brought together. SIX DISTINCT COMPANIES COMBINED!
DRAMATIC, PANTOMIME, ACROBATIC, BURLESQUE, TERPSICHOREAN AND ETHIOPIAN, COMPOSED OF
THE VERY BEST ARTISTS IN THE WORLD.
THE LARGEST AND MOST COMPLETE
BALLET TROUPE
ALL THE GREATEST SENSATIONS OF THE DAY
PRESENTED IN RAPID SUCCESSION.
THREE DAYS' SILENCE A NEGATIVE.
Artists of all kinds desirous of visiting Philadelphia will apply to
MR. ROBERT FOX,
8-tf New American Theatre, Philadelphia.

MUSIC HALL,
DAYTON, OHIO
FORMER SITE OF TURNER'S OPERA HOUSE,
Ground Floor.
TWO COMMODIOUS ENTRANCES.
COMPLETE SETS OF SCENERY, and all the stage appointments of a
FIRST CLASS THEATRE.
One of the most elegantly finished places of amusement in the country.
Patent Chairs in Dress and Parquet Circles.
Proscenium Stage, 40x40 feet.
Capacity, 1,400.
For particulars concerning rent, etc., address
5-10t* J. H. THOMAS, Agent.

RICHMOND THEATRE,
RICHMOND, VA.
APPLICATIONS FOR STOCK ENGAGEMENTS
for the
COMING SEASON
must be addressed to MRS. W. T. POWELL,
Richmond, Va.
The above establishment can be rented for the NIGHT or WEEK, or play on shares, during the months of June, July and August. Address as above. 4-tf

BURNHAM & QUEEN,
Have for sale at all times, FIRST CLASS CONJURING TRICKS AND MAGICIANS' APPARATUS. Enclose stamp for Catalogue.
Address BURNHAM & QUEEN,
8-3t* No. 3 Central street, Stoneham, Mass.

THEATRICAL PLAYS.
WE ALWAYS HAVE IN STOCK
ALL THAT ARE PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTRY, and a large assortment of Italian and English Operas. Also all FOREIGN PLAYS AND MANUSCRIPTS to order. Send for a catalogue. Orders sent by mail free of postage. R. BURTON, 37 Fourth avenue, N. Y. 1-tf

MRS. F. B. CONWAY'S
BROOKLYN THEATRE.
The management is now prepared to RECEIVE APPLICATIONS for the ensuing fall and winter seasons of 1872 and 1873.
5-tf F. B. CONWAY

WILMINGTON OPERA HOUSE,
WILMINGTON, N. C.
The above theatre has been refitted and renovated throughout, and can be rented by the night, week or month for
FIRST CLASS EXHIBITIONS.
Apply to E. J. PENNYPACKER, Lessee.
N. B.—This theatre is licensed by the year. 8-tf

MAGICAL REPOSITORY AND
MANUFACTORY.—A variety of very elegant Magical illusions always on hand; also our revised edition of Wizard's Wonderful Cabinet; containing Wizard's Opening Speech; Apparatus and Instructions for Ten Tricks, Chart of Positions, etc. Also No. 3, containing five, 15c. Davenport Rope Trick, 7c. Sent free by mail. Enclose stamp for illustrated catalogues. W. J. JUDD, 1-13t* 1,322 Third avenue, N. Y.

GRANITE HALL,
WALCOTTVILLE, CONN. (FORMERLY WADHAM'S.)
On Naugatuck Railroad. Remodeled, newly painted, new scenery, lighted with gas. Everything first-class. Terms reasonable. Seating capacity, 800. A. F. MIGEON, Proprietor.
1-13t* Address CHAS. McNEIL, Agent.

SAMUEL MARTIN,
127 EIGHTH AVENUE, NEW YORK, manufacturer of FLAT AND WIRE SHEAVES with wrought-iron boxes and either wood, rubber or iron sheaves; DOUBLE SHEAVES of all sizes; SCREW EYES of the best styles, BRACE IRONS and HOOKS of the best shapes, and dealer in THEATRICAL HARDWARE generally. Refers by permission to Samuel N. Pike, proprietor of Pike's Opera House, Cincinnati, Ohio; James Schaberg, stage director of Wallack's Theatre, New York; Samuel Wallis, master machinist of Grand Opera House, New York; Benson Sherwood, master machinist of Niblo's Theatre, New York; Wm. F. Prescott, master machinist of Boston Theatre, Boston, Mass.; G. B. Wilner, master machinist of Henderson's Opera House, Providence, R. I. 1-12t*

NEW ACADEMY OF MUSIC,
CHELSEA, MASS.
will be ready to rent Feb. 1st. It is one of the most complete and elegant Theatres in the United States, having all the latest improvements; with a large stock of new and beautiful scenery; act and drop curtain; seats 1,500, with patent opera chairs, being built under the direction of the architect. Mr. John A. Fox, of Boston, with the sole view of making it perfect and complete in all its details, regardless of expense.
FOR PARTICULARS CONCERNING RENT,
Address WILLIAM GERRISH,
8-12t* Agent.

FIFTH AVENUE
OPERA HOUSE,
PITTSBURGH, PA.
THIS THEATRE, TO BE KNOWN AS THE OLD OPERA HOUSE,
can be rented on easy terms by Comedians, Minstrel Troupes, and all first-class exhibitions from the 1st of April, 1872. Apply to ELLSLER & GOTTHOLD, 1-tf New Opera House, Pittsburgh, Pa.

MISCELLANEOUS.

FARO

MASON & CO.'S PRICE-LIST.
(Our Complete Price-List sent on application.)

Faro Boxes. German-Silver.....$15.00
Extra heavy plated (on German Silver).....20.00
Faro Lay-Outs. Broadcloth, $10.00. Oilcloth, $ 5.00 on fold-up board,..... 25.00
Case Keepers, Ivory " 16; Painted " 9
Wood markers, $12; Ivory rakers, large, 9
Combination Boxes. German Silver.....$40.00, $50.00
Plated, $60, $80, $75, $100.00
Faro Cards. Harts, best squared.....$15.00 per dozen
" " " " 1.50 " pack.
Check Holders. Small.....$4.00. Medium.....$5.00
Extra large 6.00. Scroll saved.... 6.00
Cue Cards. Price per thousand, $10.00; (five thousand at a time, $40.00.) Samples sent free.
Card Presses. For Drawer, $5.00; cover and lock, $7.00 double, with lock, $10.00.
Keno Sets. Complete with wood balls.....$ 25.00
" " Ivory " 100.00
Extra Cards, Balls, Tally-Boards, etc., always on hand.
Poker Checks. Bone, at $1, $2, $3, $5, and $6. per 100
Ivory, at $8, $10, $12, and $15, per 100
Poker Cards. Monte Tickets, Readers, Strippers, Spanish Monte Cards.
Roulette. Red and Black, Rondo, Chuck Luck, Over and Under, Horse Head, Dice Spreads, and every kind of Dealing, Rolling, or Short Game.
GOODS C. O. D. To any address, with the privilege of opening and examining goods before paying balance to Express Co., on receipt of $5 with order, except to extreme points or the Territories, where a deposit of $20 will be required. A written guarantee from the Express Agent that the goods will be taken will answer the same as a Deposit.
MASON & CO.,
Late 125 Dearborn St. 432 State St., Chicago

WELLING'S PATENT
Compressed Ivory Faro Checks
Faro Checks in Sets of 600.

1¼ inch plain	$50	1¼ inch plain	$60
1¼ " single line	60	1¼ " single line	70
1¼ " double "	70	1¼ " double "	80
1¼ " engraved	80	1¼ " engraved	90

Poker Checks, Red and White, per Hundred.

1¼ plain	$7	1¼ plain	$
1¼ lined	9	1¼ lined	1

Having the exclusive control of these Checks, parties will save both time and money by sending their orders to us direct.
MASON & CO.,
Late 125 Dearborn St. 432 State St., Chicago

$300,000!
MISSOURI STATE LOTTERY.
Legalized by State Authority and Drawn in Public in St. Louis.
Grand Single Number Scheme.
50,000 NUMBERS.
CLASS F, TO BE DRAWN JUNE 29th, 1872.
5,880 Prizes, Amounting to $300,000.

1 prize of	$30,000	500 prizes of	$ 100
1 prize of	15,000	9 prizes of	1,000
1 prize of	10,000	9 prizes of	500